WOMAN IS BURNED TO DEATH

Son Badly Injured in Attempt to Rescue Her at $100,000 Northampton Fire

Northampton, Jan. 28.—Rendered helpless by infirmities, Mrs. Mary J. Wrisley, seventy-four years old, was suffocated by smoke, when fire broke out in a three-story business and apartment building on Main street today.

Willis Wrisley, the woman's thirty-nine-year-old son, was badly burned in attempting to rescue his mother, who died a few minutes after reaching the Dickinson Hospital.

The con's burns were so serious that he was held at the hospital.

The blaze, believed to have started from an overheated flue in the shoe store of W. J. Fleming on the first floor, filled the building with smoke and drove the tenants to the street, where the mercury was thirteen below zero.

Handicapped by the cold, which cooled their hose lines with ice, the firemen battled the flames for two hours. Chief John F. Marlow estimated the damage at $100,000, the chief sufferer being the Fleming Shoe Store. Another shoe store and jewelry store suffered some damage from smoke and water.

WOMAN BURNED WHEN OIL LAMP OVERTURNS

Lena M. Berch, aged forty-eight, was badly burned about the left forearm when a lamp was accidentally upset in her apartment at No. 11A Dilworth street, South End, early today.

The overturned lamp set fire to the room and members of Engine 13 and Ladder 12 fought for fifteen minutes before the flames were extinguished.

Miss Berch was removed to the City Hospital for treatment.

SIEBOLD CALLS WIFE TO PHONE; ENDS LIFE

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK SIEBOLD JR.

Despondent over losing his fortune Siebold, noted hotel builder, called up wife on phone, then shot himself as she listened in at other end of wire. The tragedy came on the thirteenth anniversary of their marriage. The couple had been estranged.

SUICIDE ON HIS THIRTEENTH WEDDING DAY

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Today was the thirteenth anniversary of the marriage of Frederick A. Siebold, Jr., two years ago the president of a million-dollar building corporation.

Penniless and out of employment, he entered a lonely booth of a downtown hotel to call his wife. From whom he had been estranged. When he took a shotgun.

"I'm going to kill myself," he told the brunette woman at the other end of the wire. "This is the last—"

The roar of the exploding gun reached her. Frederick A. Siebold, Jr., died with the receiver in his hand—his business in the hands of a receiver.

DAUGHTER OF MAYOR AT CRISIS

Family and Doctors Remain Constantly at Bedside of Dorethea Curley

The condition of fourteen-year-old Dorothea Curley, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. James M. Curley, who is suffering from lobar pneumonia, reached a crisis today.

After a bad night the girl's condition became so critical today that the entire family were called to the bedside.

So grave was the situation that no official word could be obtained as to the progress made in the fight of three leading physicians against the ravages of the disease.

All calls at the Jamaicaway home of the Curleys were answered by a maid, who could only say the child's condition was unchanged and the family still at the bedside.

Dr. Martin J. English, the family physician, and Drs. Libby and Peabody of Tufts and Harvard were on duty all night, as were the Mayor and Mrs. Curley.

Dorothea's temperature remained high, and it was feared her lungs were filling with water. A tank of oxygen from the City Hospital, was on hand, to be used as a last resort.

While the physicians and the family refused to give up hope, it was feared that the child's vitality was too low to rally from the latest attack upon it.

TWO SEVERE QUAKES NOTED IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Jan. 28.—Two pronounced earthquakes were recorded on the seismograph at Georgetown University here last night and early today. Father Tondorf announced the first quake began at 11:29 p. m. lasting until about 1 a. m. He estimated the distance at 1,400 miles from Washington. The second quake reached a maximum from 4:18 to 4:20 a. m., ending at 4:45 a. m. The distance of the second quake was not ascertained.

GANNA WALSKA REFUSES TO QUIT GRAND OPERA

Nice, Jan. 28 (I.N.S.)—Ganna Walska, undergoing in her determination to be an opera star, is billed to sing "Madame Butterfly" at the Nice opera tonight.

She has been training for her Riveria appearance by singing under the assumed name of "Anna Navarre" in the provincial French opera houses at Auxerre and Bourgueil.

LEAGUE CALLS PASSPORT CONFERENCE AT GENEVA

Geneva, Jan. 28 (I. N. S.)—The League of Nations issued an invitation today to all nations, inviting them to participate in an international passport conference at Geneva. The purpose of the conference would be to abolish many of the present inconveniences of foreign travel.

FIXED POST PLAN IS SUCCESS

Only Five or Six Places Left Out of a Total of More Than 650

Providence, Jan. 28.—This city, long rated as the most widely known "oasis" in the Volstedian desert of New England, is slowly but steadily approaching dry "totality" through the medium of the police "short post."

Where the favorite protean tricks of "Izzy" Einstein and his fiend partner, "Moe" Smith, proved of no avail; where the best laid plans of Federal prohibition agents and city police have hitherto gone astray, the "short post" is proving highly successful and the days of complete aridity are close upon saloon "shoppers" of "Little Rhody's" metropolis.

Out of a total of 650 "places" in the city, including high class bars, clubs, "speak-easies," kitchen bars, drug stores, fruit stores, "shine" shops et cetera, where the garbled threats of a city have been quickly and potently made moister, there remain but five or six downtown bars, some clubs, a scattering of backroom "hip-joints," and two score or more "speak-easies" in the city.

CHIEF O'NEIL'S PLAN.

All because of "Big Chief" O'Neil and his police "short posts."

And there's a great hue and cry from certain citizens and from saloon proprietors who make bold to assert that 100 per cent. protection of the city, from depredations of fire, banditry, larceny, home-breaking, assaults and attempts and other forms of lawlessness and vice, is no longer a fact in Providence because of the "short-posting."

The statement is denied by officials of the police department who say there is no wave of crime in Providence.

But before presenting arguments the article will explain the "short post" and how its use has worked to the disadvantage of saloon owners.

A "short post"—or it might be termed "fixed post"—is a station or patrol directly in front of the entrance to a saloon covered by one, two—sometimes three policemen during the period between the opening and closing of the place posted.

When the proprietor or barkeeper opens the saloon for business, a policeman takes up his post near the entrance. There he awaits the coming of customers.

All day and far into the night these "short post" police keep their vigil. They operate in reliefs.

HOW IT WORKS.

Here's how they work:

Down the street struts a man with a thirst. Visions of a high ball or a cool glass of foaming beer are his. He approaches his favorite place.

Mr. "Dry Throat" observes the policeman on "post."

Perhaps he is not aware that, in his pocket, the patrolman has a warrant to search and seizure ready for any emergency. He takes one disdainful glance at the "cop," then boldly enters the saloon.

What does "Mr. Officer" do?

Proposed Auto Fees Fixed by Size of Cars

Here are the new schedule fees for trucks, taxicabs and passenger-carrying motor vehicles proposed by a special committee of the Legislature, which has been studying motor vehicle problems:

Fifty cents for each hundred pounds of weight for trucks of less than 4,000 pounds.

Seventy-five cents for each hundred pounds of weight for those in excess of 4,000 pounds.

The weight would be the aggregate of the vehicle and its registered carrying capacity.

On taxicabs and other passenger-carrying vehicles, $4 a seat for those carrying seven or less and $3 a seat for those carrying more than seven.

SPRECKELS' FORMER WIFE CHARGES LYNCHING PLOT

Constantinople, Jan. 28. (I.N.S.)—The Princess Chevikar's divorce suit, the counter-action brought by Madame Sidi Chakir and the controversy between Suad Chakir and the Constantinople press, held the interest of the city today. Madame Chakir, the former Miss Sidi Worth of San Francisco, who married John D. Spreckels, 2nd., and later Suad Chakir Bey, of Constantinople, is accused by the Princess of stealing her husband, and has in turn sued for 20,000 pounds on the charge that the Turkish woman tried to incite a group of soldiers to lynch her.

FRENCH OFFICIAL SAYS U. S. MUST CUT CLAIM

Paris, Jan. 28 (A.P.)—Refraining from sentimental outburst and treating the debt of France to the United States from what he characterized as a business man's viewpoint, Louis Dubois, former president of the Reparations Commission, declared in an address in the Chamber of Deputies today that the United States must considerably reduce her claim against France, not only in equity and right, but also to safeguard her own interests.

FIRE DESTROYS OLD POST ROAD LANDMARK

Greenwich, Ct., Jan. 28.—The old Mongon place on the Boston post road, one of the oldest buildings in this town, was destroyed by fire, the loss being estimated at $25,000. The building was owned by Alfred Briggs and was used as a restaurant.

The firemen, fighting the blaze in a heavy snowstorm, were forced to lay lines of hose across the post road, blocking traffic on that thoroughfare for several hours.

DEMANDS JAIL FOR DRUNKS

Motor Traffic Committee Hits Judges for Leniency to Intoxicated Drivers

The failure of judges to send drunken drivers to jail is severely condemned by a special committee of the Legislature, which for six months has been investigating motor traffic problems, in a report made public today.

What is needed is not more laws, the committee says, but better enforcement.

The General Court, in enacting laws providing for discretionary jail sentences for first offenders and mandatory jail sentences for those guilty of a second offence, did its full duty, the committee says.

"Notwithstanding these provisions," the report states, "the number of drunken drivers who have actually gone to jail has been surprisingly small."

CHANCE FOR JUDGES.

The judges are given a year's time in which to justify the present discretionary law. If, at the end of that period, the drunken driving menace is not reduced, it is recommended that the Legislature consider seriously making jail sentences mandatory in every case.

The committee believes that in all but very rare cases a two-year sentence to jail should be dealt out to every drunken driver.

More than a dozen changes in automobile management and regulations are proposed by the committee.

They recommend:

COMPULSORY INSURANCE.

1—A maximum speed limit of 25 miles an hour.
9—Creation of a traffic board.
3—Increased penalties, including a jail sentence, in certain cases for operating without a license.
4—Heavier fees for commercial vehicles and jitneys.
5—An equipment squad for Registrar Goodwin of twenty men to inspect brakes, headlights and other equipment.
6—The empowering of all police officers to arrest any person

WOMAN FROZEN TO DEATH IN CHAIR BESIDE STOVE

New York, Jan. 28.—Miss Alice Jones, sixty-five years old, a spinster, was found sitting in a rocking chair frozen to death in the little cottage she occupied alone on Jackson avenue, Seaford, near Freeport, L. I. Neighbors, alarmed by her absence the past few days, broke in the door.

The body was in a natural posture in the chair, which was close to a stove in which there had been no fire for some time.

It is believed that during the intense cold the latter part of the past week she fell asleep just before the fire went out in the stove and died without awakening.

operating while under the influence of liquor.

7—Severe penalties for removing the number from a motor or chassis or otherwise defacing them.

8—Repeal of the horn blowing law at every street corner.

9—The establishment of a distance beyond which motor vehicles must remain while a fire is in progress.

10—Requiring police officers to report minor offences to the registrar instead of complaining to the courts.

11—Repeal of the requirement that applications must be sworn to.

12—An appropriation each year of $10,000 for educational work by the motor traffic board.

13—Investing the traffic board with control over the location of roadside stands.

14—Safety instructions in the public schools of not less than thirty minutes in each week.

15—Compulsory liability insurance for personal injury.

16—Vesting the Boston Police Commissioner with authority to appoint such number of patrolmen for traffic duty as he deems necessary.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS.

The committee consists of Senator John W. Haigis of Greenfield, John E. Thayer, Jr., of Lancaster, former Senator Charles M. Austin of Somerville, Representatives James D. Bentley of Framingham, Frank W. Eaton of Brockton, Francis E. Cassidy of Webster and Jeremiah J. Healy of Natick.

In all its recommendations the committee is unanimous except for the dissension of former Senator Austin on compulsory insurance, and one minority report.

Senator John W. Haigis and Senator John E. Thayer of Lancaster are in favor of a citizen constabulary of not more than 200 persons to be appointed by the motor traffic board.

These officials would serve without pay, and with the exception of arrest would be invested with all the authority of regular inspectors.

The motor traffic board would be composed of the registrar of motor vehicles, its chairman, and the two associate commissioners of the department of public works. The board would take over all the authority of the registrar except the investigation, suspension or revocation of registration certificates and licenses.

ON WEIGHT BASIS.

The schedule of fees proposed checks all trucks upon a weight basis. Fifty cents would be established for every hundred pounds of weight for trucks of less than 4,000 pounds and 75 cents a hundred pounds for those more than 4,000.

Taxicabs and other freight carrying vehicles, including the big motor busses, would be licensed on a seat basis. The proposed schedule provides a fee of $4 per seat for those seating seven or less and $5 a seat for those seating more than seven.

It is believed that this revision will yield approximately $3,000,000 of additional revenue next year.

Another $7,000,000 would come from the proportion of horse power on passenger cars.

The committee is against arbitrary allocation to the division of motor vehicle fund, as suggested.

The recommendation that police officers report minor offenses to the registrar instead of making the complaint in court is supported by several arguments in the report, chief of which is that it will allow day officers to remain on duty instead of spending their time in the courts.

GRANTS FINAL DECREE IN 19-YEAR-OLD SUIT

Providence, R. I., Jan. 28.—Nineteen years ago proceedings were started to bring out the dissolution of the Manufacturers' Trust Company, later absorbed by the Union Trust Company. The case was held in abeyance owing to pending litigation.

Judge Hugh B. Baker, in Superior Court, granted the petition of Charles Matteson, Frank O. Field and Clinton F. Stevens for the dissolution of the company, and final decree was entered.

Messrs. Matteson and Field are the only surviving members of the board of directors, and Mr. Stevens, an assistant treasurer, was the last surviving official.

S-19 COMMANDER IS STANDING BY SHIP

While the United States navy submarine S19 still remains hard and fast on the shoal sands off Nauset Beach on Cape Cod, naval circles in Boston are eagerly anticipating announcement of the personnel of the board of inquiry that will investigate the beaching of the underseas craft.

Lieutenant Charles F. Martin, commander of the S19 when she was driven ashore by a gale, is still standing by in a rescue craft anchored near the beached submarine.

The lieutenant has issued several statements in which he assumes full responsibility for the accident.

POLICE DEFEND CLEANUP IN PROVIDENCE

Right in his arrides—on the heels of the "dry one." While the latter with a furtive glance at his shoulder stands shifting easily before the bar the patrolmen at the end of the bar.

"Nothin' doing—not a thing in this place"—from the man behind the bar with a meaning glance at one toward the uniformed visitors.

"Oh yeh—see you later, Joe," out stalks "Mr. Dry" with a thirst.

READY FOR RAID.

Had the barkeeper disposed of bottle of contraband from his bar and attempted to pour a drink, the warrant could have been snatched from the officer's pocket, the place raided and searched, liquor seized and a summons left.

Or if the patron had drawn a bottle of liquor from his own pocket both he and the proprietor would be arrested—or at least summoned to court, and the place searched for other contraband.

That's how the short put was effective.

Of course there's many a drink sold while a saloon is posted in the aggregate day's business in Providence's "posted" saloons wouldn't pay for the lighting of the places one night.

An American reporter visited several "posted" resorts.

He talked with proprietors and bartenders while uniformed members of the law stood within the establishments perhaps laughing and drinking, but ever alert.

In the summer of 1923 Reid left his wife and enjoyed the company of "a little girl friend." Little girl friend was an appropriate "vamp," his friends say. He offered him on with a tale of sorrow and finally left him away practically a million dollar business and left in financial ruin.

"He's just under the influence of a doll-eyed girl," his wife says say. "Take him away from her and he will make an ideal husband. I am willing to take him back and forgive him."

He went back to her today on the anniversary of their marriage. A few brief words spoken over the telephone, and then came the shot.

STRIKERS THREATEN TO PICKET KING'S PALACE

London, Jan. 28.—A threat to picket Buckingham Palace, in James Palace and every government building if voluntary labor is used to keep the services running is made by the striking members of the engineering staff of the electric works, who went out 36 days ago against the employment of a non-union man. Three thousand men are now idle and many of them have been in the service who had refused to join the strike have given notice of their intention to quit. The services affected include the electric light, heating and other engineering services of the palaces and government buildings.

MEDFORD MAN KILLED BY MONOXIDE GAS

Carbon monoxide gas claimed another victim when Medford chauffeur with pulmotors were unable to revive A. Edward Johnson of 15 Bradshaw street, in the Glendale district, who was found unconscious in the garage in the rear of his home.

Cornelius J. Leary, who lives at the same address, went into the garage and found Johnson lying on the floor between two motor cars. Leary's and his own. The motor of Johnson's car was running.

POSTOFFICE BURNED AT MOUNT HOLLY, N. J.

Mount Holly, N. J., Jan. 28.—Nearly today destroyed the four-story Masonic Temple building, the postoffice within it, the three-story Ely & Kaille office building adjoining and a small house in the rear known as men of this city, Burlington, Mount Holly and Masonville brought it under control. The damage is estimated at $200,000. The mail was saved.

DEATHS BY THE SCORE IN NOME

But One Physician in Mining Camp Where Diphtheria Rages

Washington, Jan. 28.—Government airplanes are being sought today, by Dan Sutherland, delegate in Congress from Alaska, to combat the grim specter now stalking the highways and byways of Nome, Alaska. Diptheria is ravaging the city and already there is a heavy list of dead.

Scores of men, women and children are stricken, with only one doctor at hand.

The stricken community is isolated and the serum needed to fight the disease cannot be brought aboard by dog teams in less than fifty days, from Seattle, where the nearest supply is available.

The nearest supply of anti-toxin is at Anchorage, 600 miles from Nome, and the roads are almost impassable. This supply is limited.

AIRPLANE SOUGHT.

The United States Public Health service has ordered, by telegraph, cable and radio, that the serum be sent as quickly as possible to the pestilence ridden district, but ordinary means of communication would use many lives.

Delegate Sutherland has asked that a government airplane fly from Fairbanks, Alaska, where a plane is available, and pick up a supply of anti-toxin at Nenana.

FLIGHT FROM NENANA.

With the aid of the airplane, the anti-toxin could be carried from Nenana to Nome in a week's time and it is believed scores of lives could be saved.

Nenana is the most northern point which can be reached by rail, and only seven swept dog-team mails lead from that city to Nome. It is over these that Delegate Sutherland proposes the government plane shall fly with the serum.

COMMUNITY TAX VOID, UNDER STONE DECISION

Washington, Jan. 28.—Attorney General Stone has held that the federal government's basis of taxing California estates under the California community property law is incorrect, and the taxes thereby collected from the California law was enacted.

The attorney general expressed no opinion with respect to the principles governing the taxation of estates derived from community property.

Simultaneously with the announcement of Mr. Stone's opinion of the estate tax phase, which was rendered by the treasury, the latter department announced it were prepared to seek a final court decision of the right of the husband and wife each to make a separate return covering one-half of the community income.

CUTTERS SEARCH COAST FOR LOST PATROL BOAT

Coast guard cutters are searching the east patrol No. 175, which was abandoned three days ago when the crew of seven was rescued by the British schooner Auracania of Lunenburg, N. S., forty miles east of Boston Light, the first having been sighted at South Boston Monday morning by schooner Acadia, to which they were transferred. The British vessel is said to have been a rum runner.

Not much hope is held out for the boat as, when abandoned, the hull was heavily iced and lacked boiler power. Cutters now searching are the Gentian and Acushnet, also a destroyer from New London.

TENNESSEE PROHIBITS TEACHING OF EVOLUTION

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 28.—The state legislature today passed a bill prohibiting the teaching of evolution in the common schools of the State by a vote of 71 to 5.

CLING TO SILLS FOR THEIR LIVES

FIREMEN NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH

Scene at fire on Commercial wharf, where several firemen were injured in falls and others had narrow escapes. Photo diagram shows two firemen who clung to window sills until they were rescued by comrades.

GIRL DYING OF POISON CALLS 'DANNY'

Her lips sealed in silence, pretty little Sophie Horovitz is dying at the Lynn Hospital after taking two drinks from a bottle of carbolic acid in the Market street station of the Narrow Gauge railroad in Lynn.

"Why did you do it?" a nurse leans over her to ask.

Conscious of the question the girl's lips press sharply in a thin line. She will not tell.

The girl is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Horovitz of No. 40 Hanover street, Lynn, attractive and popular in her set.

Sophie Horovitz wanted very much to die. In the waiting room, while nobody was looking, she took two drinks of the acid. Then she started to wash her hands.

Three Boston girls entered the station. Then saw an expression of agony flash across the other's face.

"Are you ill?" one of the girls asked.

Sophie smiled a little in her pain. "Yes," she said. "I'll be the last one." Then she grinned in the bottle.

The girls raised a hue-and-cry and while they rushed another injured, unconscious to the floor. One of them, bending over her, thought her lips whispered, "Danny. Danny! Why did you go to it?"

And then, "I love you."

At the Lynn Hospital she is given a slight chance for recovery. Neither her parents nor friends can give any information for her self. As far as they know, there was no "Danny."

Only Physician in Mining Area Where Diphtheria Rages

Washington, Jan. 28.—Government airplanes are being asked today, by Dan Sutherland, delegate in Congress from Alaska, to combat the epidemic now stalking the highways and byways of Nome, Alaska. Diphtheria is ravaging that city and already there is a long list of dead.

In sixteen community is reported and the serum needed to stop the disease cannot be brought there in dog teams in less than 20 days from Seattle, where the only serum is available.

The nearest supply of anti-toxin is at Anchorage, 460 miles from Nome, and the roads are almost impassable. This supply is limited.

SERUM SOUGHT.

The United States Public Health service has ordered, by telegraph, 300 c.c. units of the serum be sent as quickly as possible to the stricken district but owing to lack of means of communication there is many days.

Delegate Sutherland has asked government airplanes fly from Nome, Alaska, where a plane is ready and set up a supply of serum at Nenana.

FREE FROM NENANA.

With the aid of the airplane, the serum could be carried from Nenana to Nome in a week's time and it is believed scores of lives will be saved.

ARREST IN MILL STRIKE AT FALL RIVER

Fall River, Jan. 28.—Sheriff Wiley marched with an armament of seven more score under the strike of the cotton workers of this city, who walked out nearly weeks ago, seeking 5 to 10 per cent. wage cut.

The intense and effected the most of the strikers, who have been peaceable throughout. Following the disturbances today some fifteen strikers the measures of which have been on strike since January 1, a year was arrested and a grand jury train to hold back a crowd in the panic of a revolver.

Chief of Police Martin Fenton ordered all police reserves on duty following this incident. Patrolmen have been assigned to special duty in addition to their regular tours.

Sympathizers of the strikers are congregating in the streets and it is said that workers going to and from the mills have been threatened.

WORKERS THREATENED.

Charles Gachal of No. 219 Bedford street is the man under arrest in the first evidence of violence connected with the strike.

It is said he attempted to throw a stone through the window of an automobile as it was leaving the mill yard, loaded with workers. Several other persons narrowly escaped injury when, shortly before, an unidentified man buried a piece of ice at another automobile.

POLICE RESERVES ARRIVE.

Patrolman Silvia, patrolling his beat near the mill at closing time, noticed a crowd was gathering and that there was considerable jeering and shouting. He tried to calm the crowd, but was unable to do so, and sent in a call for assistance. Capt. John Keaney of Dynamo A with seven men, responded.

Before they arrived, however, the officer had been forced against the wall, surrounded by a threatening crowd. After being threatened with injury several times, he finally drew his pistol and threatened to shoot unless the crowd dispersed.

The crowd gave way somewhat when the reserves arrived, but it was some time before it was scattered.

FROG BALKS AND HUNDREDS GO HIKING

A frog that leaped the fastened and refused to jump while escaped from Everett police station early in the dark, stood across the Boston & Maine railroad tracks at Malden Bridge, forcing hundreds of office bound workers to leave the cars before their usual stations and today it went in the sub-zero weather.

The balky frog was at the railroad crossover between Bedford and Park streets and caused until the morning rush hour before becoming unruly.

Cars were halted every time the frog stirred and loud cheers and jeers the unwilling were rewarded. Eventually the treatment took and the frog jumped.

FIREMEN HURT AT $50,000 BLAZE

Firemen fought more than an hour with a powerful fire stream before the entrance door in the entrance of a four story building a fire in the basement of the Berry Dodge Company, manufacturers of coffee, spices and other products at 1 Commercial street.

Damage to the building and contents of the Dodge Company was estimated at $50,000 by Chief Edward Kelley of the Boston Fire Department. Many firemen were overcome by smoke and fumes and were taken to the Relief Station, where they were treated by Dr. Thomas Dunn.

The fire caused damage estimated at $5,000 to the building, which is owned by Samuel Dodge.

FLAMES LEAP WAY.

Aided inside and from Merchants' Row, Chemistry employees, flames were way into the narrow back alley. Wires caused by the fire and the fire department had to work until the flames were under control.

The four floor with twenty firemen on it, quite they and climbed from the blazing building to the roof. Some of the firemen leaped from the roof, while others handed their hose on window sills and dragged their way to safety.

Deputy Chief Edward Kelley was injured by falls.

THREE ALARMS.

Crews of laborers under Superintendent A. J. Connolly of the United Freight Railroad Company were pressed into service early today in an effort to clear the company's tracks in Atlantic avenue.

The blaze, fanned by a strong wind off the harbor, puts the firemen a hard battle and necessitated the sending in of a third alarm.

The men were compelled to work in reams and the third alarm was sounded in order to obtain a sufficient number of men to fight the blaze.

The fire was discovered by John Frazier, a Union Freight conductor in charge of a string of cars being drawn on Atlantic avenue. He notified Patrolman Cornelius O'Brien, who turned in the alarm.

WEDDING OF NEGRO COOK TO BE ANNULLED

Washington, Jan. 28.—Plans are being taken for friends of the groom today to secure the annulment of the marriage of Henry W. Francis, Jr., 19-year-old son of Ex-Postmaster John M. Palmer of Aurora, Clarendon, and Amelia Brown, twenty years old, colored cook in a local hotel.

The story of how the woman, impersonated the surprise preparing the license for the wedding, taking the two to a house in one of the colored quarters of the city where the marriage ceremony was performed in the presence of admiring colored friends, and surrounding for three days with her white husband before he was forced into a hospital, joined the Congressional set where young Palmer is well known.

The woman, according to friends and relatives of young Francis, who is now at the Emergency Hospital here, applied at the marriage license bureau here on January 17 for the license to wed young Francis. He did not accompany her. The woman could not write and had to sign her "X mark" to the papers. After procuring the license she met Francis and drove with him to the residence selected for the wedding.

Investigation has disclosed that the Negro woman in applying for a license described her intended husband as "colored," gave the name of the clergyman who was to officiate as the Rev. Amelia Sayles and asserted that neither she nor her husband had been married before.

PROBE FINDING OF MAIL BAGS ON SHORE

Pouches Washed Up at Martha's Vineyard Mystery to P. O. Inspectors

Boston postal authorities are mystified over the finding on the beach at Menemsha, Chilmark, on Martha's Vineyard, of United States mail pouches washed up by the tide.

The bags, together with more than thirty leather straps stamped "Property of U. S." were found along the beach and are now in possession of Boston postoffice inspectors, who are conducting an investigation.

There has been no marine disaster of a vessel carrying U. S. mails reported recently and shipping records fail to show any mail carrier missing in the waters of Vineyard Sound.

David Butler, harbor master at Chilmark, found the mail bags.

U. S. TAX RELIEF HANGS ON WAR DEBT FUNDING

Cincinnati, Jan. 28.—Any immediate substantial relief to the American taxpayer must come in large measure from the United States from European countries, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, declared in an address to-night before the National Food Brokers' Association.

Assailing France, Italy and the other nations which have not yet arranged for a debt settlement, the Senator asserted that their failure to do so was costing the taxpayers of this country upward of $300,000,000 annually.

"ARTISTS AND MODELS" SHOCKS MONTREAL

Montreal, Jan. 28.—Official Montreal will have none of Broadway's "Artists and Models." It has so shocked the critics and city officials here that Bert Lang, manager of His Majesty's Theatre, had to put on a dressed version of the musical revue. The revue in the meantime continues to play to capacity houses.

The burlesque on "Hash" in "Artists and Models" together with many lines in the show, were deleted by Censor Casey in Boston.

PACKED HOUSE AGAIN GREETS OPERA STARS

Mary Garden Is Brilliant in Title Role of "Louise;" Baklanoff Dominates

By MOSES SMITH.

The second night at the opera was notable in not being so much of a let-down as was to be expected. While there was not quite the brilliance of the opening night, there was almost as much, and the house was again crowded. This was of course a tribute to the continuing drawing power of Mary Garden, who appeared in the title role of "Louise."

"Our Mary" made her Boston debut of the season and it was magnificent. Her work was easily the outstanding feature. The astounding thing was that her voice seemed almost a rejuvenated one over what it has been for the last few years. Come back are the power and much of the quality of her prime, and her voice has a dramatic forcefulness that it lacked a couple of years ago. Not once during the course of the evening did this voice fail her in any material fashion. Her low tones, almost spoken so often, had the old timbre.

DRAMATIC UNITY.

In her acting Miss Garden was the same Mary as always. She overdoes what is substantially a limited number of gestures and there is too often the suggestion of posing. But one must pardon one's critical distaste of Miss Garden's rank theatricalities.

The performance in the opera was good as good in the way as that of "Aida" on the opening night. The piece was splendidly cast. There was a constant attempt—and a successful one, too—to maintain the illusion of the drama. Without exception the singers submerged themselves into the dramatic unity more than is usually the case, and consequently the final scene dominated by George Baklanoff as the father of Louise. The duetto of the singers was unusually good, as that those in the audience who understand French could actually make out what was being said.

CREDIT TO CONDUCTOR.

Maria Claessens played the role of the mother, and turned out a splendid work of art. Baklanoff was the revelation of the night in conception of his character. The minor characters, Julien, was allotted to Fernand Anseau, a tenor with a voice of beautiful quality. His song and acting was also almost ideally.

All of the principals, as well as conductor, Giorgio Polacco, were making their first appearance here. Mr. Polacco gets the credit for the general high quality of the performance, but the actual ensemble work on the stage, and the playing of the orchestra. While the chorus sang well, it was not as good as in "Aida."

Horseshoe of Boxes Was Unbroken Curve of Radiant Color

By Betty Alden

THE SECOND GALA evening of grand opera has come and gone, leaving a bright trail of glory on the Winter's social scroll. Sumptuous gowns and priceless jewels—as on the evening of the premiere—adorned fair maid and regal matron, with the masculine contingent furnishing the sombre note of black and white in necessary contrast.

THE HORSESHOE of boxes was an unbroken arc of radiant color, from Mrs. Everett Morss' box at the right of the stage, way around to that in which Mrs. Ralph Flanders and Mr. Flanders entertained, at the extreme left.

MRS. MORSS, in black and gold brocade, with strands of pearls and pearl and diamond ornaments, had her daughter, Mrs. Gardiner Fiske, as her guest. Mrs. Fiske was dressed in flesh-color pink tulle over satin of the same tone.

THE RICHARD ELY DANIEL box next but next in line, held a handsome group of matrons, with Mrs. Daniels, of course, as the centre of observation and to attract.

SHE IS THE DARK, stately type, and always dresses to perfection—and to guests effects. Her dark hair was held low in the back with a broad comb, and her gown of satin and crepe was a gay shading from rose, extremely becoming her.

MRS. ERWIN FARNHAM OBERNE entertained a small party, consisting of guests, were a congenial one, too—to imagine the illusion of the drama. Without exception the singers submerged themselves into the dramatic unity more than is usually the case, and consequently the final scene dominated by George Baklanoff as the father of Louise. The duetto of the singers was unusually good, as that those in the audience who understand French could actually make out what was being said.

The camera caught her just at the finish of a gracefully executed figure on the gleaming ice at Lake Placid. She is a daughter of the Handasyd Cabots of Boston and Duddin, N. H.

MISS PAULINE CABOT

MRS. WILLIAM S. PATTEN was another handsome matron in a box party, her gown of white silk worn under velvet, a severely simple gown, the decolletage being outlined in small brilliants.

MRS. EDWARD JACKSON and her daughter, members of Mrs. H. Scott Price's box (Mrs. Price is her mother-in-law) was in delightful blue tones, the touches of gold on the corsages and joined the homage rule in her usual delightful way.

MRS. IDEN BEAVER and Mr. Gregory were also host in the diamond mines. Mrs. Draper in vivid matrix blue brocade and their guest, Mrs. Harris Livermore, in a perfect frock of white taffeta and black lace. Quite distinctive was her headdress—a wide headband of glittering brilliants set low on the forehead.

MRS. LIVERMORE is the exotic type—and her dance gowns, even the simplest, achieve a distinction at once remarked in any gathering.

MRS. M. GREENE HAUGHTON of the smart set entertaining a series of brilliant box companies throughout the opera season, last evening was in a handsome gown of maroon velvet, a beautifully carved and groomed comb in her hair.

EXQUISITE MARY OTIS and the stately Mrs. Herbert Foster Otis, her mother, were truly a joy to look upon. Mary's opera frock was an Egyptian green crepe with gold thread figures here and there, and Mrs. Otis was in black velvet, a gown needing and having no adornment. They made a picture much admired.

ANOTHER HANDSOME and distinguished group—just in the next box—included Mrs. Burleigh Neal, her daughter, Betty and Miss Neal. Mrs. Neal's gown was a striking wine and gown of gold and rose and silver metal cloth. Betty Neal in white velvet with gold and crystal ornaments, and Mrs. Rex Stanley Brandon beneath a sumptuous opera cloak of gleaming brocaded metal cloth.

THE SOHIER WELDENS had with them Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Wilmerding and Mrs. Mason Weld, which The Weeds box continues to be one of the most interesting in the always interesting circle. Last evening Mrs. Wilmerding was in white satin, Mrs. Brandon in rose and gold and Mrs. Weld in apple green crepe, a delicate setting to her fair color.

MARY VINTON MURRAY and Rosamond Murray of the late Morris Murray party were much admired in the promenading throng between the acts. Mary wore a golden yellow silken shawl over a gown of white, and Rosamond also was in white.

THAT LOVELY YOUNG matron, Mrs. Oliver Wolcott, radiant as in her popular Sybil Appleton days, came to the opera in a beruffant taffeta, changing green and gold with wide fur hem.

SHE WAS NEAR the Charles Goddard Weld box, wherein Mrs. Weld, a patrician figure in gold and black brocade with diamond ornaments, entertained a stately group.

THE RALPH FLANDERS box party completed the adjoining curve. Mrs. Flanders in rather blue velvet. Mrs. Snelling Robinson in American Beauty velvet. Mrs. Irwin Tracy in blue brocaded chiffon, and Mrs. Frank Mansfield in gold cloth with beaded overdress were a strikingly gowned quartet of femininity.

THE ORCHESTRA and parterre circle held many a notable of fashionistas. There were Mr. and Mrs. R. Pearson Hallowell, Mrs. Hallowell in black velvet with ermine stole, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Jr.

MRS. FROTHINGHAM wore a gown of black velvet and set beneath a wrap of black velvet with white fox collar and cuffs. Mrs. George Dabney, in American Beauty velvet. Mrs. Francis Gray in the palest of rose pink, and Mrs. James Lawrence in black lace, were three much observed matrons.

POLLY WEBSTER and her mother, Mrs. Edwin Sibley Webster, and Mrs. Charles Fanning Ayer and Theodora, her daughter, came in for much admiration. Mrs. Ayer wore a chin white satin, and Theodora's opera frock of pastel tints carried for its completing note a lovely fringed shawl of golden yellow.

I SAW MRS. WEBSTER and Polly as they entered the Opera House. Polly in a rich wrap of rose brocade combined with rose velvet, and Mrs. Webster in an ermine wrap.

MRS. FRANCIS SEARS, and Mr. and Mr. Sears, and Mr. and Mrs. William Endicott came in at the end of the first act. Mrs. Sears wore black velvet with rose satin, richly beaded, and Mrs. Endicott was in black velvet with coral, and her jewels she wore a rope of coral beads. Her wrap was sable, and Mrs. Sears' was black caracul with sable collar.

MRS. AMORY HOLLINGSWORTH, in sable wrap and rose and black gown, was notable in the richly apparelled throng, also Mrs. William Gaston, that handsome matron wearing a black satin gown and wrap of satin and squirrel fur.

A GOWN OF BLUE and tinsel brocade and a wrap of old blue velvet, a becoming melange of ciel tones, was worn by Mrs. Albert Abney, who had Mr. Richard Platt, the musician, in her party.

MISS ALICE STACKPOLE and Miss Annie Endicott Nourse, each handsomely attired, held court during the promenade. Miss Stackpole wore gray and silver beads, and Miss Nourse a costume of gold and black with beaten gold scarf.

UNSPOTTED ERMINE IS le dernier cri for opera wraps, it would seem. Mrs. Samuel Minter wore one of these, bordering a flare over her frock of blue and bronze chiffon, and Helen Moseley, a bud of the Winter, chose the all-white wrap to wear over her opera gown.

ANOTHER BUD, Grace Cushing, came with her mother, Mrs. George Cushing. Grace was in a frock of blue taffeta, and the matron wore a green velvet, one of those soft almond tones. Sally Porter, a third bud whom I spied in the orchestra and later during the promenade, was in mauve lace.

MRS. JOHN B. PAINE of Boston and Weston chaperoned her bud daughter, Carol, and played the duenna for Sally Robbins, as well. I saw the party just as they arrived, before they doffed their rich furred wraps. Mrs. Paine wore a cloak of velvet and fur, and her daughter and Sally Robbins were in white.

MRS. ROGER GRISWOLD, Mrs. John Lewis Bremer, Isabella Mumford and Anna Fuller are in the notorie's of tennis stars going over to Brooklyn in a day or so for the matches at the Heights Casino.

IT'S AN invitation tourney, and this aggregation, fresh from new triumphs out at the Longwood courts—are all up on tiptoe to add a leaf or two to their wreaths of laurel.

MRS. GRISWOLD is the one-time Penelope Parkman, a past president of the Vincent Club, succeeding Mrs. Charles Cobb (Elsie Nichols) in that post of command over the town's younger fashionable girls and women.

SHE AND Mr. Griswold are ardent sailors also. He is an amateur skipper of high rating and indulges his love for the deep blue sea by doing the yearly Bermuda race, an arduous bit of seamanship, as sailormen well know.

SPEAKING OF THE amateur yachtsmen—even though it's a long way to Summer time—the Spencer Bordens are planning to cruise through sunny a sunny day in their schooner yacht, the Ingomar.

MR. AND MRS. BORDEN and their daughter, Blanche, all three handle the tiller with equal skill—Dr. B.'s just like old salts of years of sea-going experience.

SPENCER BORDEN and Mrs. Bernard Trafford are brother and sister, and the Bordens are often in town from their Fall River home whenever there is a fox-...ay or the tapis at the Trafford place in Milton.

TO FOLLOW still further along the line of sports and smart followers thereof, Reginald Bird announces that the Millwood Hunt Horse and Pony show is set for June, the 5th and 6th days.

THE MILLWOOD SHOW is a mere infant in years as compared with other horse shows hereabouts—but it is a lively youngster and entries include every rider of the smart world and [illegible] blooded horses of like distinction.

IT TAKES PLACE out at the Reginald Birds', Wayaney Farm, in Framingham, an ideal spot for such a spectacle. There is a sporty outside course for hunters, over natural hazards, just what is met in ordinary hunting.

MR. BIRD says that the ring is the largest in the country. That means, of course, opportunity for many entries and large classes, composed of the brilliant field during picture last June, eighteen hunt teams in one class and thirteen teams in uniform in another. A record for hunt shows.

B. U. GIRL WILL TEACH JAP STUDENTS

To teach Japanese boys and girls the principles of democracy and the brotherhood of man—this is the mission Miss Ruby L. Anderson, Boston University student and "girl with perfect teeth," is about to undertake.

Before coming to B. U. Miss Anderson had taught for over four years in Japan. She barely escaped losing her life in the recent Japanese earthquake and she was often in danger from hostile religious fanatics. But she is going back to brave it all again.

"Having once seen what kind of men and women genuine Christianity makes of Japanese, and how powerfully the leavens of Christianity is working in the life of Japan," she says, "I want to return to have my part in the great enterprise.

"The number of students in Japan who today hold ideals of democracy compared with the number in 1914 is amazing," she declares. "The Japanese are highly imaginative, artistic and persevering. They can learn to do many things well. The nation who is to compete with them in the future will have to be mighty wide awake."

DRIVER BRINGS FLAMING BUS TO FIRE HOUSE

Attleboro, Jan. 28.—Leo J. Conway, driver of a bus of the Conway Tours Company of Boston, proved himself a cool-blooded individual if not a hero, when he drove his bus to the fire station, with flames coming from the seat, under him.

Fire was discovered when the car was parked some distance from the fire station. Doors between compartments in the big machine protected the passengers on the bus and without ado, Conway turned over the starter, threw the machine into gear and drove up in front of the fire house.

"A little help," Conway shouted.

The firemen responded with a chemical extinguisher and quenched the blaze in a few moments.

Conway then drove his passengers on their way.

Opium Conference Has Increased America's Contact With Other Powers

Geneva, Jan. 28 (A.P.)—The entire problem of adjusting American relations with the League of Nations has been opened up anew in league circles by the decision of the leaders of the International conference to make the league council, with the United States as official body which will supervise international traffic in dangerous drugs.

The significance of the action is that it has suggested a practical means of solving the problem of how to arrange and organize relations with the league which seems to be steadily increasing.

This suggested solution also means the appointment of a permanent representative of the American government to the league who will follow those league activities which the United States was interested and sit with the league assembly when these matters are viously handled by commissions or committees. Should there be new matters being further studied or perhaps amended by these two bodies, the appointment of league officials will also be left to the discretion and discretion.

In the opinion of league officials this would virtually mean that the United States will become a permanent member of the league, with the understanding that it will undertake no obligations under the covenant and would take no responsibility or activity in international political problems handled by the league.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2.50, and have the best cough syrup you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families [illegible] they could hardly live [illegible] without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it beats all of a cough will soon earn a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill the pint. Or, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. It tastes pleasant, never spoils and gives you a pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made mixture overcomes a severe cough, chest cold, bronchial cough, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, or even bronchial asthma. Within four hours, usually, persistent coughing is loosened, raw throat soothed, and phlegm loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, clears the throat through every air passage. Splendid for children's coughs, because it tastes pleasant. Almost immediate relief. Splendid for hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, and has been used for many years for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

BOBS BANNED WITH EVENING GOWNS

Bobbed hair suffered another blow at the convention of the Lady Hairdressers now in session at Horticultural Hall.

This time the official ban of the organization was placed on wearing the abbreviated style with evening gowns.

Every member of the association, male and female, is in arms against bobbed hair. Led by Armand Frisart of New York, who talked yesterday afternoon on the future of the fair, the association has declared itself [illegible] opposed to women wearing bobs at night.

"Bobs are all right," said Mr. Hair, "when the young lady is engaged in sport or such things. Even at an afternoon tea a bob is permissible, although not so smart as the more dignified coiffure.

"But the evening dressing desire is damned then nobody must bobs the fair, that she has a strange or a boyish bob. She can wear extra, false hair on that. We bob spot crystal wigs of gold or silver to match the evening frock."

No bobs were shown. The models were [illegible] because their real [illegible] were all more dignified than "girlish."

The association had a banquet and dance at the Hotel Westminster following the show which [illegible] are now in session attended.

HUB COLD WAVE DUE TO PASS TOMORROW

But as a matter of illustration, all the Atlantic states are [illegible] to still chattering teeth today, from Florida, where the temperature dropped to 42 above, to North Dakota, Vt., where it fell 16 below zero, and Maine on the coldest mark.

CAPITAL CHILLY.

Washington, from at 2 above, which is extremely cold for the Capital, and New York remained off at Broadway for the cold reason that the mercury stood at 2 below and a fresh wind added further to the discomfort. Boston-to-Portland boats that played havoc with the thinly-clad boulevardiers.

To and about Boston the temperature ranged from 4 below to 7 above, as listed.

Temperatures ranging anywhere from 4 to 10 below zero were reported today from Somerville, Charlestown, Arlington and other surrounding towns, while Winthrop, Quincy and other places along the ocean reported temperatures as low as 15 below.

With storm warnings up along the coast from the Delaware capes to Eastport, Me., the Weather Bureau predicts at least forty-eight hours of unusually cold, stormy weather.

OLD POST ROAD LAND MARK SWEPT BY FIRE

Greenwich, Ct., Jan. 28.—The old Mongen place on the Boston post road, one of the oldest buildings in this town, was destroyed by fire, the loss being estimated at $25,000. The building was owned by Alfred Briggs and was used as a restaurant.

The firemen, fighting the blaze in a heavy snowstorm, were forced to lay lines of hose across the post road, blocking traffic on that thoroughfare for several hours.

FIGHT AGAINST LODGE ELECTION IS DROPPED

Washington, Jan. 28.—A resolution demanding the contest against the re-election of the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in 1922 was adopted by the Senate in one of forgot by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts.

The contest was brought by Gen. Joel Crocker, a Republican, who refused to support Senator Lodge in the campaign.

REVERE GRAFT REVEALED BY MAYOR

Walsh Lays $2,000,000 Debt to Gross Negligence and Waste

By BERT FORD

Confronted with a total indebtedness of $2,561,259 and badly snarled finances generally, Mayor John E. Walsh of Revere has asked for a state audit of the accounts of the Infant North Shore city.

Enough laxity and extravagance has been disclosed by a cursory examination to warrant a State accounting, in the opinion of the new chief executive. Probing is expected to reveal a scandal.

John E. Walsh

The school and fire departments are under scrutiny. The "Doctor Mayor"—he's a physician by profession—is determining to rid the city of Revere of a financial millstone that has been a detriment for years. He has started out on an administration of strict economy, a "pay-as-you-go" policy.

Mayor Walsh, aided by Theodore N. Wardwell, chief State auditor, City Treasurer William Kenney, President John McAuley and his private secretary, has discovered unpaid bills amounting to more than $150,000 inherited from the last administration which should be met at once and the checking is still incomplete.

MUST PAY SAYS MAYOR.

"There is only one thing to do and that is to pay our bills and clear away the city's indebtedness as quickly as possible," said Mayor Walsh. "It will mean a higher tax rate, but there is no other way out.

Business ethics and common sense demand such a course.

"It would be much easier for me to let debts ride as my predecessors have and to cover the mup and string them along by overlapping appropriations and the like, but such a method would be an injury to the city and a growing hardship on the taxpayers.

"It would mean that our city credit would be saddled by constantly increasing financial burdens and getting deeper all the time. The evil has to be stopped some time and now is the time. I intend to make a clean sweep if it makes me unpopular or not. I imagine it will.

"At least friends warn me it isn't the way to play the political game, and I'm not a politician nor am I interested in feathering my bed for a second term at the cost of conditions that retard the growth and prosperity of Revere.

AGAINST "GANG" RULE

"My reply to friendly tips and warnings has been that I intend to do my utmost to live up to his type of man in public office that I was painted on the stump. That was why the voters elected me and if I disappoint them it will at least not be without trying to please them.

"The 'gang' who expounded such principles at the rallies supposed I believe and let the gang rue. That is not my conception of a public trust; hence this financial housecleaning for the benefit of the city of Revere.

"There are sheafs of bills which should be paid. Some of them have dragged along for several years. It is not equitable nor good business, but I find in looking over some of these bills that no thought was given as to saving the city's money.

"School and fire department supplies and other purchases were made without competitive bidding. I find that 2200 feet of double-jacketed hose was bought for the Fire Department at $1.25 a foot when a firm in Virginia bought the same article for $1.05. A saving of 20 cents a foot may be sneezed at by some, but these are the items that run up into a big municipal debt.

BRASS IS MISSING.

"Brass couplings cost $4.50. When the new hose was bought new couplings were purchased also and nothing is said of what became of the perfectly good old brass ones. This loss bill amounts to $2,500.

"We are still checking up the school department accounts which show unpaid bills amounting approximately to $4,100.

"There is an unpaid coal bill due one firm for $12,000. Yes, we are at work on gasoline bills. Was any used for private purposes? My answer to that question is that it probably evaporated.

"I removed four such employes of the city and am studying other cases. One runs against civil service regulations at times in trying to pry out deadwood.

Charge Authorities With "Covering Up" Facts in Gleason Death Mystery

Newport, R. I., Jan. 28.—Sensational charges that the authorities were suppressing vital facts in connection with the slaying of Mary Gleason, Newport domestic, whose body was found in a moat at Fort Adams, were made today by the four brothers of the slain girl.

Declaring that the authorities were covering up evidence in order to shield the slayers of the girl, the brothers employed Attorney Frank A. Nolan to conduct a private investigation.

"We will bring the slayer or slayers to justice ourselves, if the authorities refuse to do anything," the brothers united in declaring.

The report of the medical examiners, which found that the girl apparently died of exposure and that she had not been attacked by her slayers was highly displeasing to the Gleason brothers.

"We will not be satisfied as to the cause of sister's death until our attorney has gone over every angle of the case," Patrick Gleason told newspaper reporters today.

The charges of the brothers of the slain girl have aroused both the Newport city authorities and the officers at Fort Adams, where the crime was committed.

"We will spend every cent that we have and every dollar that we can borrow to see that justice is done in the death of my sister. All of her brothers are convinced that she was murdered and hated the murderer pay for his crime," Patrick Gleason said.

"My brother John and I both examined the scene of the crime and found a large pool of blood on the ground. We know that all of the medical officials overlooked this important point and then they say that there was no mark of violence on the body.

fall. That also will come, and before long.

Men that have conquered the ocean waves will easily conquer the air waves.

What is the strongest wave of air compared with the ocean wave that rolls gigantic rocks upon the beach, or eats away a granite cliff? You never saw the wind that could roll big rocks uphill.

FLYING MACHINES all wind, strong enough to resist any wind, and with engines ten times as strong as the strongest as well, will make air travel, long before the end of the century, much safer than travelling on railroads has ever been.

CANADA IS GROWING rapidly. Up there they welcome good immigrants. Here we discourage immigration. One of the most fertile States in the Union, with 35,000,000 acres of land, has 33,000,000 acres not yet developed, but we say we have enough population.

WHAT IS MORE important than human happiness and independence. Canadians attend to that. In Canada 92 per cent. of the farmers own their farms. In the United States, only 62 per cent. Less than half, the others are tenants paying rent.

THE NATION in which those that cultivate the land own the land on which they live grow in strength. The power of France is due largely to the fact that Frenchmen own their land. That small country has more than six million land owners, a great improvement on the days of monarchy, when a handful of nobles, occlusiastics and royal princes were the land owners.

ANCIENT ART WORKS UNEARTHED IN SYRIA

Beirut, Syria, Jan. 28 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Statues of the Goddess Astarte, various inscriptions, Egyptian emblems and two Greek temples, one probably of Jupiter and the other of Athena, have been unearthed in excavations carried on under the direction of Professor Pardise of Strasbourg and Professor Haryuny of Prague.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels

"California Fig Syrup" is Dependable Laxative for Sick Children

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to sweeten the stomach and open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. Doesn't cramp or overact. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now, instead of taking tonics or trying to force poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion, stomach distress, bilious and a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, "all-in" feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with constipated bowels. Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with pure olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like, 15c and 30c.

8 VICTIMS OF PAPER ROLL RECOVER

Half-Ton Object Bowls Down Into Entrance to Cambridge Tunnel

The eight men and women crushed by a roll of news-print paper weighing half a ton, which fell from a skidding truck and rolled down the stairway of the Cambridge subway at Park street, are all on the road to recovery, today.

Investigation of the accident by city and State authorities has shown that the accident was not due to carelessness and was practically unavoidable.

AUTO SKIDS.

A truck, loaded with heavy rolls of news print was driving along Tremont street when the machine skidded into the subway kiosk. Two of the paper rolls were thrown from the truck, but only ones truck the entrance of the subway.

The one liberated roll went crashing into the subway entrance, knocking down pedestrians frantically endeavoring to reach places of safety.

All the injured were taken to the Haymarket Relief Hospital and are reported as improving today.

LIST OF INJURED.

The injured are:

Solsina M. Taylor, 43, of No. 55 Magazine street, Cambridge; serious internal injuries.

Harry Levine, 21, No. 20 Woodrow avenue, Dorchester; injuries to head.

Genevieve Feare, 22, No. 17 Trowbridge street, Cambridge; legs and chest injured, possible fracture of ribs.

Catherine Casey, 21, No. 40 Harris street, Brookline; legs and back injured.

Ruth Houghtaling, 17, No. 13 Harris street, Brookline; injuries to back and legs.

Louis Hyneff, 15, No. 144 Quincy street, Roxbury; legs injured.

Joseph Cutting, 52, No. 61 Grafton street, Arlington; knees, hands and chest injured.

Marie A. Murphy, 23, No. 148 Upland road, Cambridge; leg injured.

Several others were knocked down by the plunging roll, but suffered only minor hurts.

The truck was owned by the Rinn-Morrill Company and was driven by Joseph A. McLaughlin of Charlestown.

FIRE MENACES SCORED BY HENNESSEY

The fire hazards existing in the public institutions in Massachusetts were scored by State Senator William J. Hennessey of Cambridge, who addressed the members of a legislative committee in support of his bill to order sprinkling for all wooden buildings of all properties and institutions of the State.

"Three hundred more suffocated than can be accommodated are housed at the Northampton hospital," the Senator declared.

"The trustees of this hospital recommended that a sprinkler system be installed, yet they turned back $36,000 unexpended funds when a sprinkler system would have cost only $10,000.

"Danvers, Westboro and Boston State Hospitals have all reported that fire entrance exist in the institutions. Worcester State Hospital and the Taunton Hospital are both fire traps to some extent."

Action on the order was held over by the committee.

MEXICAN ENVOY WARNS CLAIM SEEKERS HERE

The Mexican Embassy at Washington reports that a large number of offices in the United States have been opened to push claims against the Mexican government. Minister Sanez stated that investigation proved that a majority of these offices were simple digging claim seekers, by taking the claims under advisement and requesting funds to carry on the process. He says that Americans should present their claims through proper channels without causing themselves useless expense.

PREFERENTIAL POSTAL RATE HELD BY SENATE

Washington Jan. 28.—The Senate refused to eliminate the present preferential mail rate allowed religious, educational, scientific and philanthropic publications, adopting by a vote of 51 to 23 an amendment to the postal pay and rate increase bill by Senator Butler, Republican, Massachusetts, to retain the present rate of 1½ cents a pound on the advertising sections of such periodicals.

WAR ON SOVIET EXPECTED IN SPRING

Washington, Jan. 28.—Great commotion has been caused among the Russian emigrants here by a report that Grand Duke Cyrilovitch has issued an appeal to the former Czarist officers and that the Russian monarchists have received powerful help from sympathizers in Europe and are now making preparations for a counter-revolutionary movement against the Soviet government.

All the officers of the old regime living in Poland are said to have responded to the appeal, saying that the time for the overthrow of the Soviet is ripe. Similar answers already received from Germany and other countries are declared to be in the hands of the Grand Duke.

The Russian colony is greatly stirred by the report, and the remarks of the first names in Russian expressing the hope that the end of the Soviet government is near.

GERMAN PARTY HEAD IN JUGOSLAVIA WOUNDED

Belgrade, Jan. 28.—Herr Kraft, chief of the German Party, and Deputy Grassland, chairman of the local German Party Committee, were attacked during an election rally Sunday at Novisad in Voivodina, and Kraft was seriously wounded in the head.

BREAKDOWN TIES UP NEW HAVEN TRAINS

A break in the side rod on Engine 1110, drawing a semi train from Providence, caused delay on the Providence division of the New Haven Road.

The accident happened in what is known as "The Meadows," near the Dolbeare Coal and Lumber Company. The breaking of the engine forced the engineer to uncouple the train and proceed.

With the work on the engine was completed the train proceeded on to Providence, arriving at 11:30 A. M. and reaching its destination one hour and fifty minutes late.

MEXICAN RULE FIRM AND JUST, SAYS WARREN

Newly Appointed U. S. Attorney-General Praises Calles and Obregon

New York, Jan. 28 (Universal)—"From all I hear from friends in Mexico the administration of President Calles is tending to establish Mexicans of all classes on firm ground. This is due to his fairness and his desire to have justice prevail."

Charles B. Warren, former ambassador to Mexico, who two weeks ago was appointed Attorney-General of the United States by President Coolidge, made this statement in his suite at the Hotel Biltmore. He went on:

"Obregon and Calles have done wonderful work in restoring order and good government for Mexico.

"Both have co-operated with the United States in settling up international tribulants that are now in operation, guaranteeing protection to American citizens and wiping out the dangers arising from activities in the revolution period.

"The property interests of American citizens in Mexico are now safeguarded."

First—Stop Pain

Don't suffer for an hour

When pain comes, stop it. Be ever ready to stop it quickly, night or day. Don't suffer any pain which a moment of rubbing can stop.

These include pains allied to rheumatism, to soreness, to lameness, to chest colds. They can be stopped at once. For 65 years they have been stopped by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

As for curing the cause of the trouble, Nature usually does that. But don't suffer while you wait. St. Jacobs Oil causes counter irritation. Then it draws the blood to the surface to relieve congestion. In a minute you will feel that the pain has eased. You rejoice in relief.

Perhaps there are other ways. But this is the way that millions have proved. They have proved it for years. You can rely on it. Your druggist guarantees it. Why take chances when you know that nothing can be better?

Don't wait for an emergency. It may mean hours of pain. Have St. Jacobs Oil ever ready. Apply it instantly as you feel a pain, a cough, a chest cold. It will soothe it, check it, conquer it. Then will always be better way. So get it now, to be prepared when it comes. It may save you and yours many unnecessary hours.

FIREMAN HURT AS BROOKLINE HOUSE BURNS

Two Families Driven to Street from Dinner Table as Flames Spread

When the families of Phillip Lenard and Frank Bruce sat down to their respective dinners in the two-family house at No. 85-87 School street in Brookline, they had little thought that the meal furnished by neighborly hospitality would be satisfied.

A fire which broke out in the basement of the building and followed by an explosion to the roof drove the families out before they finished their meal, and two hours later they were given their dinners by hospitable neighbors.

The building was damaged to the extent of $5,000.

Lieutenant William Longmuir, Ladderman Williams Longmuir, both working on the second floor, were overcome by smoke and fell. Longmuir suffered a wrenched left arm, while Williams received an injury to his right wrist on a piece of glass severing an artery, and was treated at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Later he went home.

COURT HOLDS SURGEON BLAMELESS FOR ERROR

Taunton, N. J., Jan. 28.—Physicians and surgeons may make an error in judgment and cannot be held responsible for the consequences, according to a ruling by Judge Delaney, who presided in the Ist Jr. Ct. E. Hendon, sued for $25,000 damages by Lewis Hunt of Butler, who alleged through the negligence of Dr. Hendon, an error which, the plaintiff was made to suffer the loss of his left eye. There was no evidence of negligence, Judge Delaney said, in the further explanation of his decision.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic Coughs and Persistent Colds Lead to Serious Lung Trouble. You Can Stop Them Now With Creomulsion, an Emulsified Creosote That Is Pleasant to Take.

Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germs.

Of all known drugs, Creosote is recognized by the medical profession as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs, colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases. It is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. If you are not relieved after taking Creomulsion according to directions, you have your druggist return the empty package and he will refund your money. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

BOOST IN B. & M. FARES FUTILE, SAYS PROBER

Higher Commutation Brought Only $22,000, Utilities Board Hears

Although commuters on the Boston & Maine Railroad had their rates boosted 20 per cent. in 1924, the boosted rates netted the railroad only 1.3 per cent. increase in its revenue.

This interesting fact is the latest high light in the hearing conducted by the Public Utilities Commission, to determine whether or not the 15 cents commutation rates shall stand.

The railroad when the rate increase was framed on recommittees residing within the fifteen-mile zone announced that the higher rates would result between $600,000 and $700,000 more revenue per year. Instead the higher rates brought in only $22,000 increase in 1922, according to Attorney H. Le Roy Brown, representing the protesting commuters.

"The acid test of the validity of the rate increase," said Mr. Brown, "was whether $22,000 is enough increase to reveiw to warrant the additional burden to the car riders."

In order that he might prove this was not the case Mr. Brown asked the Boston & Maine officials to promptly figures counter on the traffic within the zone for 1923 and 1924 on the forty trains originating in the Boston terminal between 7 and 9 a. m. and leaving Boston between 4 and 6 p. m. Mr. Brown also asked for figures of the year, April, July and November.

According to witnesses for the railroad the reason for the slight increase in revenue when compared on the 20 per cent. increase in rate is found in the decrease in traffic from 182,445,887 passenger rides in 1923 to 113,216,804 in 1924, a decrease of more than 14% per cent.

Bill Offered for State Aid In Fight on B. & M. Line Cut

The proposed abandonment of many of the unprofitable lines by the Boston & Maine Railroad will be fought, not only by the citizens in the communities affected, but by the Attorney-General of Massachusetts, as well as by the Public Utilities Commission, it was announced by Attorney Harry E. Graves of Salem in session.

The petition will be taken up at a hearing held by the Joint House Committee of the Legislature.

The order of Attorney-General was to the effect that the Attorney-General be authorized and requested to take such action as he may deem necessary to protect the interests of the public interest in relation to the proposed abandonment of the Wales Dell-Newburyport branch, or in the alternative, such branch, and all branches of the system.

The order requires the Attorney-General to be present at the hearing of the said Commonwealth before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the State Department of Public Utilities, or before any other tribunal having jurisdiction.

Attorney-General Graves is also authorized to take all proper and effective means to protect the interests of the cities and towns in the matter.

CHAMBER OPPOSES TAX RETURN PUBLICITY

By an overwhelming vote the members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce rejected themselves as opposed to the provisions of section 257 of the Revenue Act of 1924 which provides for public inspection of income tax returns, at a special meeting held in the Chamber rooms.

Interest in the vote was so great that 1,000 members of the Chamber met here in favor of the repeal. The number of votes was the highest ever cast upon a public question in the history of the Chamber.

Jack Dempsey Describes Greatest Man He Has Met in His Life

Champion Tells of His Interview With the Wizard Steinmetz and How the Late Inventor Amazed Him

"He was a little dwarf—a sort of hunchback, with spindly legs and long, thin arms, who sat sideways on a chair like a monkey—and he was a bigger giant, a bigger man than I am," says Jack Dempsey—"the greatest man I have ever met." You'll be thoroughly astonished when you learn what he was talking about, and why.

By Jack Dempsey
As told to W. B. Seabrook.

CHAPTER V.

When Jack Dempsey is doing four

CHAMPIONS ALL
Jack's thunderbolts aimed at Tom Heeney's flinty—the fight that everyone discusses this week—and the poison of obviousness, will prevent Heeney conditioned as his best. Here is one of the best pictures taken of the little wizard and Champion Dempsey, who supports as a world's champion.

CHAMPS THAT JACK REALLY ENVIES

Late Electrical Marvel Wondered if He Had Dempsey's Physique What Manner of Man He Would Probably Be

I was pleased. And he asked me to take off my coat, and show him my muscles and my back, and two or three hooks and punches, and I was glad to do it because he wasn't just trying to make me feel all right. You could see he was really interested.

ODD COMPANIONS.

"Then we sat down, and we talked, or I guess he really did most of the talking. And it was a pleasure to hear him—though I'll be fair with you, I didn't understand it all. It seems he was interested in politics. He was a rich man himself, but he didn't believe in money, as near as I could get it. You know he was head engineer or something for the General Electric, and he had made them a lot of wonderful inventions, and they gave him a big salary, and all the money he needed for experiments, he told me, whether it was something that would make them money or not—just for pure science, he said, whatever that means. He said they had fired him up a week-place. I forget what he called it, for experiments, that beat anything else in the world.

"But he soon got off that and got talking about politics and money reform. As near as I could make out, he was a sort of Socialist. There was a lot of stuff I couldn't understand. He said he'd never worked for money, and that what came to him was by accident, and that the worst of it was it didn't do any good to give it all away. He said there was plenty of everything for everybody, and that it ought to be fixed so that it was more evenly divided. I didn't really understand what he was talking about, but I liked him so much and admired him so much I wanted to be polite, so I said:

"'That would be fine, sir; but how are you going to do it?'

"And he said, 'I wish to God I knew.'

A GOOD MAN.

"Well, I think he was not only a great man, but one of the best men I have ever met—a good man, if you know what I mean. I thought I'd take a chance and tell him about that picture of his that was on a cover with lightning, and how it made me think of it when I read of what a good man he was. He said it was a picture of an old Greek god, and then he said, 'Do to dismantle you anyway, Mr. Dempsey. I happen to be named after a Greek god, though and that was Mr.' middle name Proteus.'

"That middle name business made me think it was some sort of joke that was over my head, but it wasn't that. It was true. He told me that Proteus was a god who had the power to go out every so often, change himself into any shape he wanted, and then come back. That's proof that he had been very weak and puny and twisted, his parents had started him out in the home he would change into the same way and be strong. But I guess he never needed to be any stronger than he was.

"I thought to myself when I went away, 'There's the greatest man I have ever met or maybe ever will meet, and maybe that's a sort of

The next chapter will tell how Jack Dempsey, with the help of the beautiful Margaret Quimby "knocked out" Jimmie Slattery, the Buffalo middleweight, in a contest of wits that had nothing to do with the prize ring.

PARLEY COMING ON MUSCLE SHOALS

House Names Three Men to Confer With Senate on Big Power Plant

Washington, Jan. 28 (Universal)—Six men—three Senators and three Representatives—will determine the disposition of the government-owned power plants at Muscle Shoals valued at $150,000,000.

In sending the Underwood bill to conference by a vote of 151 to 41, the House gave the conferees of that body unlimited powers in drafting the measure as it will be passed up on finally by Congress.

CONFEREES NAMED.

When the bill emerges from conference the little group which sought in vain to have the measure referred back to the House military affairs committee for further study pointed out that the House will merely have the choice of approving or disapproving the handiwork of the conferees.

The conferees appointed for the House are: Chairman McKenzie of the military committee, Representatives Morin of Pennsylvania and Quayle of Massachusetts.

NORRIS TO FIGHT.

The measure now goes back to the Senate, where a fusion is expected over the question of the Senate conferees. The supporters of the Underwood bill are planning to force the election of conferees by the Senate, instead of allowing the appointment of the two ranking Republicans and the ranking Democrat on the Agricultural committee.

In this way they hope to prevent

Auto Accident Cause of Saving Life of Indiana Man

Gary, Ind., Jan. 28 (Universal)—As result of an automobile accident, Manvil Gomez will live, hospital physicians declared. He was struck by an automobile and picked up as dead.

First he was taken to an undertaking establishment and when signs of life returned, rushed to a hospital. Physicians diagnosed his injuries as of minor import, but found Gomez suffering from appendicitis in an extreme stage. Surgeons declared he would have died had he not been brought to the hospital for treatment of his injuries.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, leading foe of the Underwood bill, from getting a place on the conference. Norris has indicated that he will fight for his rights and is expected to have the support of Senator McNary of Oregon, ranking Republican on the agricultural committee.

'AT HOME' TODAY IN ZOO'S LION HOUSE

Boston's brand new Bengal tiger, for the naming of which some lucky schoolboy or schoolgirl in Greater Boston will win $10 offered by the Boston American, awoke in his new home at the Franklin Park Zoo today for his first full day in the Hub.

Mr. Royal Bengal arrived in Boston yesterday, via the South Station, and was taken to the zoo by Curator Daniel J. Harkins, to make the acquaintance of the other occupants of the lion house, where he is quartered.

The big lions gazed at the newcomer with decided interest, but Mr. Bengal was a bit weary after his journey from Hoboken, N. J., and immediately curled up for a nice refreshing sleep.

Today he was all perked up, however, and he is awaiting visits from the children he knows will be his friends.

Kill The Germs That Cause Your Cold

Cold in the head comes from germs in the membranes. They cause the inflammation, the stuffiness, the discharge.

Apply Ely's Cream Balm in the nostrils and breathe it. It is antiseptic. Relief is almost instant. The head is cleared, the inflammation soothed, the discharge is checked.

That's the right way to deal with a head cold. Fight the germs where they are. They never again let a head cold get started. Apply Ely's Cream Balm at once. Ask your druggist for a bottle and watch its quick effects.

HIS ROYAL BENGAL HIGHNESS

He is impatiently awaiting some Boston schoolboy or girl to pick out the right kind of name for him. His Royal Bengal Highness has been there for twenty-four hours already and thinks it is about time something was done about choosing his moniker. When he reached the Zoo the big cat was pretty well travel-worn the last cause all the way from Hoboken and only wanted to sleep. But today he is up and doing and wants that name right away.

$10 to Pupil Naming Boston's New Tiger

ALL the way from India, a great, big, magnificent tiger came to Boston with $10 in real money in his mouth for some bright schoolboy or schoolgirl in Greater Boston.

He is now in the Franklin Park Zoo.

The boy or girl that gives him the best name will get the $10 that the Boston American placed between his teeth as a prize for the name. The name will be selected by the Boston Park Commissioner, and the reason given for the selection will be given as much consideration as the name itself in deciding the winner.

Boys and girls in any grade, up to and including the eighth grade, of any Greater Boston school are eligible.

Send the tiger's name, the reason for your selecting that name, then your own name, school and grade and home address. Address responses to The Tiger Editor, Boston American, Boston, Mass. Answers must be received by 5 P. M., January 31. Use the form below or write on separate sheet of paper.

THOUSANDS IN 6-DAY CROSS-WORD RACE

From every far corner of New England they keep pouring in.

All athrob for a slice of that $250 weekly purse.

All anxious to net the $100 leader.

Thousands of the solutions to the Boston American's first Weekly Crossword Puzzle Contest have already been sifted by the examiners.

Hundreds are tied for first place, hundreds more for second and thousands for the third and the fifteen succeeding awards.

Presentation of puzzles and attractiveness of letter will be the winning qualities, consequently, in the current weekly contest.

It's a merry, intriguing game, stirring the blood-heat of competition.

Your chance of raking in the $100 wad of greenbacks is equal to anybody else. Put the punch and interest in your letters and be sure of your share of the $250.

Still, as one of the past week's contestants wrote:

"Crossword puzzles comprise something more than a race for dollars and praise. There is an enlarged vocabulary, broadened views, heightened knowledge to urge one on and the greatest reward possible is that of knowing that the finished solution is a product of one's best efforts."

Keep tossing the mark. You're in to solve 'em and reap.

Solve six puzzles, write a letter of 250 words telling what are the outstanding requirements of a successful crossword puzzle solver, and await the results. Solve each puzzle as it appears daily, write the letter between times and send in the solutions and sparks as soon as completed and watch for the posting of the winners on the following Saturday.

Don't be your persistency lapse. If you don't make a score the first week, there's no reason why you shouldn't carry one off the following week.

So on working and watch for the posting of the first week's awards Saturday.

RECTOR RAPS LOTTERY IN MARLBORO

Marlboro, Jan. 28.—Marlboro's Chamber of Commerce was unparalleled today by the resignation of the Rev. R. C. Roberts, rector of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church.

The rector sent a letter to Fred R. Fletcher, secretary of the Marlboro Chamber of Commerce, in which he declines to renew his membership in that organization because of an alleged gambling scheme in which the organization was involved.

According to the secretary of the Chamber, the gambling scheme mentioned in the resolution held last August in which an automobile, goods and drawing of lucky numbers for premiums was held at the High School Casino.

Rev. Mr. Roberts stated that he was surprised to find that membership in the Chamber of Commerce involved being a party to a lottery scheme. He said: "I will not debate the question whether tickets obtained through the purchase of goods elsewhere or at the Fair affected the morals of the clergyman, for the fact remains that tickets were obtained only through purchase. The Chamber of Commerce is expected to benefit the city and whatever degree is used in conducting a lottery it is hardly a benefit to the law and order morals of a place."

Mr. Fletcher stated that he was surprised to learn the letter had been made public, but that he did not question Rev. Mr. Roberts' sincerity. He added he was sorry that Mr. Roberts was not to continue as a member of the Chamber. Other members of the organization refused to comment on the matter.

BLOUP PAIR FOILED; GET ONLY $15

Gratification of a childhood desire to climb Bunker Hill monument and also to visit other spots of historic interest, is planned for today by Edith Mason, famed prima donna of Chicago Opera Company, now playing at the Boston Opera House.

"I was really delighted when I knew it was coming to Boston again," Miss Mason said to "The Boston Evening American" today. "I always have wanted to come back here and see the places of which I learned, when a child at school—Old South Church, Faneuil Hall and the numerous other places which have been made famous in the history of our great country.

"I have been particularly interested in the Bunker Hill monument and had planned to go there yesterday, but the weather was so bad, I want to go there on a bright day, as I understand the view is wonderful. I hope it is fine so I may go today.

"You and I pull together or else it all goes to my property," he quoted his father as saying. On another occasion the witness said his father declared, "If you don't get along with her as I did with your mother, I'll place such charges against her that she can't get any of my property."

MINE EXECUTIVE BOARDS TO DRAFT NEW WAGE SCALE

Hazleton, Pa., Jan. 28.—Executive boards of the two districts of the United Mine Workers in the anthracite fields are expected within the next few weeks to begin planstoward drafting of the miners' proposals for presentation to the anthracite operators in negotiations for a new contract succeeding the one which expires August 31 next.

Because of other matters demanding the attention of the leaders Thomas Kennedy of this city, for years chairman of the anthracite scale committee and recently elected secretary-treasurer of the international organization, today said plans have not been made yet for the usual tri-district convention at which the matter is taken up.

WOULD-BE MEXICAN COLONISTS DEFRAUDED

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 28.—Thirteen families who sold their homes near Checotah, Okla., and started for a new Eden in Mexico have disbanded here, declaring they had been victimized in the purchase of land on which they planned to colonize in the southern part of the Mexican State of Vera Cruz.

The party, consisting of 55 men, women and children, came to San Antonio from Laredo, Tex., where they were turned back at the International border by United States immigration officials.

CALLS SON AND WIFE 'PETTERS'

Pajama Parties Denied by Ex-Boston Woman in Rich Man's Divorce Suit

Testimony of petting parties between David Conrad and his youthful step-mother, Mrs. Madlyn Conrad, formerly of Boston, featured the hearing of the cross divorce suit brought by Otto Conrad, wealthy Milwaukee real estate operator.

Conrad named his son by a former marriage as "the other man," but despite evidence showing the couple were frequently in each other's company, the jury exonerated them.

As a result in the contest between Mr. and Mrs. Conrad in the Milwaukee courts, the wife is among the first withers, with her divorce decree pending.

The Conrads figured in a Christmas reconciliation, but the courts refused to recognize it and ordered a hearing of Conrad's charges against his wife and son.

DENY "PETTING PARTIES"

The hearing was replete with testimony of the alleged petting parties between Mrs. Conrad and her stepson during the absence of the husband and father.

The parties were mentioned in a telegram, whose being sent to Conrad by unseen hands at the request of the elder Conrad, according to the testimony.

Mrs. Conrad's kimono and her stepson's pajamas figured in the testimony as did a flask, the property of the attendants.

One of the principal witnesses for the elder Conrad was Mrs. Amanda Sheldon, a former resident of Boston, and an acquaintance, now a resident of Chicago.

Mrs. Sheldon testified she saw Mrs. Conrad sitting on David's knee and she referred to the servant's duties in the matter. She also gave details of several flirting bee flasks before going on automobiling with David.

Telegrams identified by Mrs. Sheldon's notes, witnessed through the witness, and another witness, Mrs. Dorothy Clarke, act as Mrs. Conrad's health resort, said Mrs. Conrad and David registered as man and wife while at the resort.

Aids at Dance

HELEN M. ROCHE AND HER JEWEL BOX

They will take part in the annual reunion and dance of St. Mary of the Angels parish, which will be held tomorrow evening at Intercolonial Hall, Roxbury.

ROXBURY FOLK TO DANCE AT REUNION

The annual reunion and dance of St. Mary of the Angels parish will be held tomorrow evening at Intercolonial Hall, Roxbury.

Rev. Charles A. Fichter, the pastor, has announced that the proceeds will be used for a new hall and as result the entire parish is working up the capable and energetic committees which are working under the direction of Rev. Walter Quinlan as general chairman, and the Rev. Francis McGrath as assistant chairman.

There will be a concert at which some of the city's most popular artists have consented to appear. Miss Helen Roche will put on her "Helen Chris-Kit." John Shaughnessey will sing and Miss Isabelle Stanton, child dancer, will give a special number.

At the close of the concert there will be general dancing, and for those who may not care to dance there will be whist in Longfellow Hall.

Following are the chairmen of the various committees: Whist, Mrs. Frances Mills; program and advertising, Mr. Charles Sefton; refreshments, Mrs. James Jedley; favors, Miss Helen Watson; publicity, Charles O'Reilly, and checking, Joseph McLaughlin.

A whist party will be held this evening in the assembly hall of the Practical Arts High School, Roxbury, under the auspices of the Knights of St. Joseph of St. Joseph's Church, proceeds to go towards the church fund.

WOULD LET DOCTORS PRESCRIBE FOR BEER

Concord, N. H., Jan. 28 (I.N.S.).—Physicians would be permitted to prescribe one quart of beer daily to 1 person by a bill presented to the Legislature by Representative Guevin of Manchester. The present liquor laws of the State permit physicians to prescribe only wines and whiskeys.

GLORIA IS BRIDE OF MARQUIS

Screen Star Takes Her Third Husband at Wedding in Paris Today

Paris, Jan. 29 (I.N.S.).—Gloria Swanson, American film actress, was married today to Marquis Henri Delaflaise. The wedding ceremony was performed at the Passy City Hall. Passy is a suburb of Paris.

The marchioness as she will now be titled, will not retire from her film work it was said. Miss Swanson is one of the world's highest paid film stars.

This is her third marriage. Her first husband was Wallace Berry, himself a motion picture player. Her second husband was Herbert Somborn of New York. By the second marriage she had a daughter, now living with Miss Swanson's mother in Hollywood.

Miss Swanson went abroad some months ago to make a motion picture. She was to have returned to the United States shortly to take the part in another film production.

Miss Swanson fought her screen career in comedy roles at one of the Los Angeles studios.

Following the wedding ceremony the bridal party drove from Passy to the Hotel Plaza Athenee. Here an elaborate luncheon was served. It is at this hotel that Swanson will be given. The Marchioness said:

"I expect to remain in France until I complete my work in 'Madame Du Barry,' the picture. Then we will return to America. If our plans are changed we will return February 15.

"I am going to remain in the States at least for six months. I am not fully decided what I shall do in the future."

CZARISTS PLAN COUP AGAINST SOVIET RULE

Warsaw, Jan. 28.—(Via) rumors are now current among the Russian emigrants here by a report that Grand Duke Nicholas has issued an appeal to the former Czarist officers and that the Russian monarchists have received financial help from some Americans. The emigrants say they expect some anti-Soviet military intervention this spring.

All the officers of the old regime living in Poland are said to have received instructions cards giving the addresses of their regiments and the names of the towns in the Russians where they should apply when the mobilization is announced.

LEADERLESS REBELS MENACING SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Jan. 28 (I.N.S.).—Chu Haoh Yuan, the Chinese rebel chief, who will be used for a puppet role, and as result the entire parish is working up the capable and energetic committees which are working under the direction of Rev. Walter Quinlan as general chairman, and the Rev. Francis McGrath as assistant chairman.

Simultaneously it was reported fighting has broken out at Ishing at the west borderland of Taihu Lake where the northern expeditionary forces attacked Sun Chuan Fang in an effort to drive Sun from Chekiang.

COURT WILL DECIDE IDENTITY OF CHILD, 3

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—The identity of the three-year-old boy found abandoned recently in Camden, N. J., and claimed by two mothers, will be determined today by Judge Raymond MacNeille in juvenile court.

Judge MacNeille said that in his opinion, evidence so far submitted points to Mrs. Martha Silkniter, former laundress in the Western Temporary Home, this city, as the child's mother. Mrs. Russell Earl Steinling has claimed the boy as her missing son, Russell Earl Steinling, Jr., who disappeared from his home last Summer.

INDIA HAS LEPER TO EVERY 300 TO 400 PEOPLE

Delhi, British India, Jan. 28.—There is one leper among every 300 or 400 of population in India, according to a statement by the viceroy, Lord Reading, in launching an appeal in behalf of the Leprosy Relief Association.

The scheme for which appeals are made, and which has the backing of the Prince of Wales and the ruling princes of India, is a far-reaching one and involves a big expenditure, which it is hoped to meet by voluntary subscriptions.

PUBLIC HEARING OVER STONE CHARGES

Washington, Jan. 28.—Attorney-General Stone was invited today by the Senate Judiciary Committee to appear before it at a public session and make a statement relating to the controversy which is delaying his confirmation as a justice of the Supreme Court.

The principal subject of discussion was the effort of the justice department to secure a second indictment here against Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, already under indictment in Montana on a charge of accepting money for practicing before a government department.

The Attorney-General earlier met the committee in executive session. It was said his preliminary statement to it might be held in confidence.

The Attorney-General took with him copies of his correspondence with Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who is Senator Wheeler's counsel. These letters, containing an outline of the new legal proceeding, had been kept in strictest confidence.

The decision to throw the books of the committee open to the public was unusual, the rule being that matters relating to presidential nominations must be kept secret.

The open session was proposed in the committee by administration Senators, who said the plan had the approval of President Coolidge.

RULES OF EVIDENCE ARE EXPLAINED TO POLICE

The rules of evidence as applied to court trials were explained to a class of seventy-five policemen and a number of policewomen at the opening of a lecture course of the Training School for Public Service under the auspices of the Women's Municipal League of Simmons College in Bowdoin School, Myrtle street, West End.

The lecturer for the course, which will continue for ten weeks on Tuesday afternoons with the exception of February 24, is Attorney Richard S. McCabe.

PLOT TO KIDNAP GIRL, 19, FAILS

New York, Jan. 28.—That an attempt was made to kidnap in broad daylight Miss Marie Van der Brock, a nineteen-year-old Chicago girl, studying music here while she was walking on Riverside Drive, became known today.

Assistant District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora said that Joseph Dergan, a business man and neighbor of his, at whose home the girl was a guest, had reported the occurrence to him the following day.

According to the story told to Pecora, a well dressed man driving a car accosted Miss Van Der Brock on the Drive and invited her for a drive. When she refused he left his machine and attempted to drag her into the automobile. The girl resisted and her assailant was finally frightened away by a passerby who came to her assistance.

HUB SCIENTIST DIES MARTYR TO HIS DUTY

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—Dr. Nathaniel Shepard Keith, one of the country's most noted Scientists and an associate of Thomas A. Edison, dropped dead of heart disease. He was eighty-seven years old. Working sixteen and eighteen hours a day, Dr. Keith was engaged up to the moment of his death on a problem of electro-magnetism.

Dr. Keith was born in Boston in 1838 and was educated as a physician.

MOTHER TO TAKE BABY TO PRISON WITH HER

New Haven, Jan. 28.—When Mary Fontano, twenty-eight years old, of this city, was sentenced to from one to three years in the State penitentiary by Judge Frederick M. Peasley, in the Criminal Superior Court here, she plaintively besought the court to permit her to take her two-year-old baby to jail with her. The court granted her plea and arrangements were made with the county sheriff for the confinement of the pair.

BELIEVED 'TIRED OF 4 WALLS'

Book by Sherwood Anderson Believed Responsible for Disappearance

New York, Jan. 28.—A clew indicating that temperamental Ethel Leginska, the missing pianist, has acted on a sudden desire to get away from the haunts of civilization, was unearthed by the police today.

Shortly before she vanished Leginska was reading Sherwood Anderson's "A Story Teller's Tale." This narrates the urge that drove a successful advertising writer to forsake his work and plunge into strange by-ways. The place where Leginska stopped in the volume was at a paragraph beginning.

"I am tired of four walls."

LIVED IN TINY FLAT.

For almost three months Leginska's "four walls" had been a tiny $65 a month semi-furnished apartment in a rooming house at No. 313 Twenty-seventh street.

Here the temperamental woman, whose concert and private earnings must have totaled $100,000 a year, dreamed curious dreams. It was from this neighborhood Monday night that she vanished while her pupil and companion of seven years, Miss Lucile Oliver, went down to Eighth avenue to get a taxicab.

Once before Leginska similarly vanished. It was recalled by her friends. This was several years ago, following illness and marital troubles. She was gone for three days.

When Miss Oliver returned with the cab, last Monday, Leginska had disappeared. An hour later, a great audience in Carnegie Hall, accepted the substitution of another Leginska pupil, Miecislaw Munz.

Meanwhile Leginska, her mass of graying bobbed hair flung to the breeze, her earmuff coat buttoned about her, purseless, gemless, had disappeared.

The pianist, whose real name was Liggins and whose parents are humble citizens of Hull, England, has twice "found"—first in the apartment of Mme. Taglione, her close friend, at No. 5 Morningside avenue, and next in Brooklyn. Both reports proved unfounded.

Then the mystery became deeper than ever. In fact, puzzling new phases of the affair constantly bubbled to the surface. Recently Leginska's restlessness was so uncontrolled that she burst out:

"Oh, I must get away from stifling civilization."

Miss Oliver and other friends said they would not be surprised if Leginska, wandering away without one cent in her clothing and with nothing of value about her save a $300 coat, had determined to play her piano incognito to the coast and perhaps make her way to the South Sea Islands.

U. S. STARS MAKE DESPERATE EFFORT TO STOP NURMI

FACES SAME FIELD OVER AGAIN

New York, Jan. 28.—American middle distance runners, beaten at every turn by Finlands two aces, Nurmi and Ritola, will make one last desperate effort to enforce either or both to accept defeat tonight when the finish of the annual Millrose A. A. carnival is held at Madison Square Garden.

Virtually the same field that trailed Nurmi into the wire in the world's record time of 2:01 4-5 in the three-quarter mile special last night will face the men from Finland again tonight. This time it will be the Wanamaker mile and a half, and Nurmi, with thirteen records to his credit in as many attempts since coming here, is a universal favorite to win.

Even more sensational has been the running of Willie Ritola during recent weeks. Saturday night he lowered three of the world's records established by Nurmi last night in winning the three-mile event, bettering two of these marks again. In addition, he finished the full distance in 14:64, beating the old record by 27 4-5 seconds.

An international walking race, bringing together Frigerio of Italy, Olympic champion; Goulding of Canada, former holder of that title, and Plant, perennial American champion, will be another feature of a program topheavy with class.

Six World's Records Fall In Millrose A. A. Games

New York, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Six world records, one of them made by the redoubtable Paavo Nurmi of Finland, were established last night at the annual games of the Millrose A. A. in Madison Square Garden.

Willie Ritola of the Finn-American A. C. broke four in a three-mile race and Harold Osborn of the Illinois A. C. forced over a bar 6 feet 6¼ inches high, with apparent ease, erasing the mark set by Leroy Brown of Dartmouth.

Nurmi's accomplishment, perhaps, was the most remarkable, for the Olympic middle distance champion conquered Joie Ray of Chicago and Jimmy Connelly of Washington in the race at three-quarters of a mile, the shortest distance he has attempted in this country and one believed to have given the American title-holder, Ray, the best opportunity he has had to defeat the Finn.

Nurmi, in a field of six, was last to get away, climbed steadily in the line until only Connelly and Ray were ahead of him, and then, with a lap to go, set such a furious pace that the field was ten yards behind at the finish. Nurmi was leading over his shoulder as he ran the final 100 yards. His time was 3 minutes 3-4-5 seconds.

But Nurmi had to share the glory of the evening, for Ugo Frigerio, a little dark-skinned mite from Milan, Italy, walked, waved and smiled his way to victory in his first exhibition on board tracks.

About everything possible for one night had happened when Willie Ritola appeared for the last event, in which Vernt Booth, former Johns Hopkins star, and Jimmy Prim of the Ymonth Amer.-Can A. C. proved to be his leading antagonists.

Booth, who finished second, was more than a lap behind in a test that established four world marks, and clipped 7:5-5 seconds off the record for the full distance. Ritola established in Brooklyn Saturday night. His other new times were: two and one-quarter miles, 10:33.2-5; two and o-o-half miles, 11:45.4-5, and two and three-quarter miles, 12:57 4-5. He held all of the former records.

Americans garnered much of the glory in an exceptional meet, with Osborn establishing a new mark for the high jump and Loren Murchison, greatest of indoor dash men, defeating Jackson Scholz, winner of the 220 at the Olympic games in Paris, in the sixty-yard sprint.

HOPPE RESUMES CUE PRACTICE SATURDAY

New York, Jan. 27.—After submitting his injured arm to a searching medical examination, Willie Hoppe declared today that he would be able to resume practice on Saturday for the international balk championship tourney at Chicago next month. Hoppe's recovery has revived talk of his proposed meeting with Bob Cannefax at three cushions.

MINOR LEAGUE PLAYERS INVADE PORTO RICO

SPECULATORS HIT BY B. A. A. SYSTEM

Extra precautions taken by the B. A. A. athletic committee to prevent tickets for the B. A. A. track games Saturday night from reaching the hands of speculators are so extensive that it will be surprising if a single paste board reaches these strong standards.

The work started has been the distribution of tickets that inquiries at the local ticket agencies yesterday revealed a complete lack of tickets for the games.

A check has been kept on every seat that has been disposed of and should any be found in possession of peculiares the tickets will be traced to learn the source from which speaks obtained them. Further action will be taken by the B. A. A. athletic committee. Saturday night, January 31, looks like an unprofitable one of the "premium boys."

Removal of the ice at the Arena starts after the public skating session tomorrow night.

A large force of carpenters will begin by removing the inner fence which was installed this year to reduce the playing surface to conform more with professional hockey.

This is made necessary by the fact that the usual 17-lap track must be had for the gigantic affair.

Chairman Al Geiger of the B. A. A. athletic committee, Athletic Manager Tom Kanaly of the B. A. A. and Manager George V. Brown will supervise the installing of the track.

KELLY COMING EAST TO TESTIFY IN SCANDAL

San Francisco, Jan. 28.—Summoned to appear before the Grand Jury here, George Kelly of the New York Giants will leave tomorrow for New York to appear before the District Attorney for questioning in regard to the Dolan-O'Connell baseball scandal.

Manager Dooin of the Phillies is already on his way to New York.

Whether Jimmy O'Connell has left for the East could not be learned today. He was reported to have disappeared from Boyes Springs, near here, where he was spending a few days. O'Connell refused to answer telegrams or telephone calls for several days and has been in hiding.

Bill Cunningham of the Boston Braves, who became involved in the investigation of the scandal when he was reported to have given a new version of the affair, was on the way to recovery today in the hospital following an operation Tuesday for appendicitis.

SPORT BROADCAST

by Jim Murphy

A RUNNING MACHINE.

Paavo Nurmi.

One of my office mates who saw Paavo Nurmi run at Madison Square Garden, New York, in his first appearance in this country tells me that the Flying Finn is absolutely colorless, both in personal makeup and running style.

This man, an expert on sports, do we say that Nurmi is one of the most perfect running machines that he has ever seen but that he accomplishes his work so easily he appears almost mechanical.

* * *

Ugo Frigerio, the Italian walker and Olympic champion, is just the opposite to Nurmi. He is the type that gets the crowd yelling for or against him. He is always bubbling over with that enthusiasm and personality that makes box office attractions. It will be interesting to note just how the crowd at the Arena next Saturday night takes to these two great athletes.

NURMI LACKS COLOR

Nurmi draws the great crowds that go to see him solely on his running ability. In this respect he is one of the oddest sport magnets in history. In fact, he is one of the few athletes to my knowledge that lacks the color so common to our American and European champions.

* * *

If Nurmi had the personality of Joie Ray the crowd would carry away the Arena Saturday night. Joie is cool to the extreme, but he has the running ability to back him up and instead of being unpopular, as most athletes of this type are, Ray is one of the best liked athletes in competition today. He's the kind that makes you shake your head and smilingly say: "What boy's cocky but he's there."

RABBIT IS SERIOUS

For years one of the most carefree young men in the big leagues, Rabbit Maranville has had a serious turn of mind and with the added responsibility of captaining the Chicago Cubs is apparently satisfied that he must settle down now or never. To prove that he is sincere the Rabbit is going to the Cubs' camp on Catalina Islands, out in California, one full month ahead of the rest of his teammates.

* * *

Maranville has been in the big leagues over a decade and in that time has been a member of three teams—Braves, Pirates and Cubs—but he is still a great player. Even the best of us, however, can't go on forever, and no doubt the Rabbit sees the handwriting on the wall and has sent on ahead the best of the few years left.

The Rabbit.

CROWLEY SIGNS AS COLUMBIA HEAD COACH

New York, Jan. 28.—Charles Crowley, former Harvard and Notre Dame gridiron star, has been engaged to coach Columbia, the Columbia Athletic Association announced today.

The school records had said his contract would run for three years at an annual salary of $15,000. Association officials, however, today declined to make public the salary figure and indicated that the contract was for one year.

The committee announced that Dr. Paul Widdemer, who had been in charge of the ten matter Houghton's tennis ball, would be unable to return to Columbia next year because of the pressure of his medical practice in Honolulu.

William L. Murray, former Harvard star, will return to Morningside Heights to have charge of the backfield.

B. C., LATIN AND COMMERCE TO MEET ON TRACK

By FRED C. LANE

The Boston Armory drill shed is the busiest spot on the scholastic map this week. With the exception of Saturday the schoolboy athletes of Boston High schools will be engaged in track performances every day. The majority of these affairs are a preliminary to the Big Provincial games that take place later in the season.

The triangular meet on Thursday between Boston College High, Commerce and Boston Latin tops the list of activities for the week.

B. C. is reported to have a fine team but with the exception of the Lynn English meet they have had little opportunity to show their wares. In the meet with the Shoemakers there was little opposition, the maroon and gold wearers winning at will.

Inside Golf

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Golfers try for distance shots when they are in the rough because of the natural liking to see the ball go far with every shot where distance is called for. That is perhaps the reason why so many players "bite on a wood" when they are in the rough, only to see another shot dubbed. It is always bad practice to play a wood when the ball is in grass of any length unless the ball has a good lie. Those hanging lies make the shot look easy but as a matter of fact they call for the utmost accuracy in execution. The safe way always is to use an iron, and one with a deep face like a mashie or mashie niblick. When the ball is in tall grass—grass ten inches deep or so—the player should use a deep-faced club and a short jab stroke. The club should be taken up more directly in the back swing and not be swept low along the ground. Take the ball more off the right toe. You use the quick, chop stroke to keep the blades of grass from tangling with the shaft. A very firm grip is required, too, since the grass will interfere a great deal with the blade as it goes into the ball.

TIGER IS FAVORITE TO WIN

By JACK CONWAY

Moe hit the grabbers for a bagful yesterday. He put his army aboard Volante and the bow legged pup played bell cow all the way paying $7.30 in the two buck machines. The gathering was $1325.00; very neat. Today he is unloading on a pelican which he got from Billy Barry, the Brooklyn Dude, for a cinch. Bankroll is now $14,293.54.

Jack Hutchinson's Boston Hockey Club is the only obstacle that stands in the way of the B. A. A. in its fight to regain the lead in the Eastern division of the Eastern Hockey League. Three teams meet in a charity match at the Arena tonight.

Three local clubs have waged some pretty battles here this season and there is every reason to expect another fine exhibition tonight.

The greatest improvement of the Hockey season to date has been one of the outstanding features of the season. [illegible] of the Hockey club to Amesbury here. With the exception of Jack Dumaine who came from Pittsburgh, Small is every inch a former Boston boy. The Amesbury star proved certainly to Commissioner Nolan for all [illegible] season.

Jack Dick Dumaine proved a sensation, following last week's [illegible] Pittsburgh Hornets. He's a bear on defense and can dig down the ice [illegible] romantic type. Local fans will have to see a big man in action before Dumaine stands as one of the greatest opponents Boston hockey has ever [illegible].

This assumes that the Hockey club has acquired in other positions the effort it produced that it showed [illegible] tonight. Ken Hutchinson, the Manager boy sharing the goal tending duties with Dumaine, is another of those sturdy men hard to get by.

If much something develops today Irving may [illegible] back in B. A. A. defense tonight. With Small [illegible] Captain Ag Smith the [illegible] will present the Local smart pair in front of the net.

Howard Langley will go up to right wing to work with Jerry Geran and Hagie Harrington. Eddie Engler will be the emergency man for both the attack and defense.

Winter Meteors

JANUARY is not specially notable for meteors, but as the moon is now absent in the late evening hours, the circumstances are favorable this year for seeing any that appear. One of the listed "showers" occurs tomorrow.

This Day in History

THIS is the anniversary of the death, in 1839, of Sir William Beechey, English portrait painter, who painted many notabilities, including Nelson, Mrs. Siddons and John Kemble. Some of them are in this country.

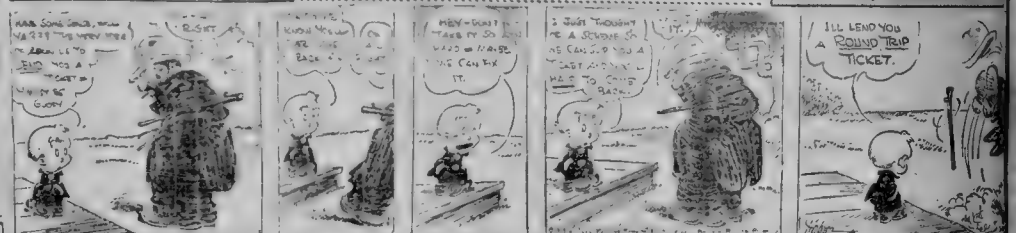
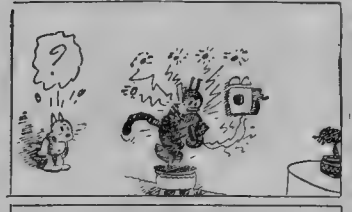
JERRY ON THE JOB

An Easy Solution

By Hoban





ONCE-OVERS

MAKE YOUR EMPLOYER'S ADVICE LEAD TO THE JOB HIGHER UP

Said the employer of a large factory: "One can't, as an employer, do as many things for the good of his men as he could, simply because if you do, there are so many who immediately look for that 'little black one in the woodpile.'"

It is true that some employes are apt to be cynical, especially when their employer talks of economy and insists on habit-forming daily schedule for taking care of the odds and ends of the business to prevent waste.

Too often the men think that this is done with a selfish motive.

Of course, the man who owns the business wants to make more money.

And taking their employers' advice in this way they improve only under protest and because they must obey orders or lose their jobs.

But there is another way of looking at advice of this kind.

How about the job an higher where more money is involved?

Every man wants a place at the top.

Well, it is the man who has taken to heart and acted upon all the good advice he can get that is promoted or put in charge at the top.

And if that employe is to own a business himself, would it not be doubly necessary for him to have formed habits which put the boss where he is?

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE SPINSTERS AND ORPHANLESS

By Mabel McKee

"If fate should want to send me a particularly beneficent blessing," Nancy Moore folded her hands imploringly and looked at the crowded court room, in which the demonstrations to their lot seemed many times, "I should ask it in the form of a widow just in the time of the year when the assessor comes around or the carpenter comes to mend my roof or the plumber to plumb my leaky pipes."

While everybody in the room laughed, Nancy, slender, elusive and extremely girlish-looking in spite of her thirty-two years, raised her head a trifle haughtily. Just as she expected. There was Judge John Ransom filing into the court room with the remonstrators.

Richest Citizen

Of course he would protest against the assessment on his own property. The judge, one of the town's richest citizens, knew his property was fairly assessed. He was too just to ask for a smaller one. But Nancy knew he was there to protest against the assessment on Mrs. William Nordway's property on the old ground on which she had remonstrated for five years.

Mrs. William Nordway was Mulberry Street's most clinging widow. For ten years she had clung tenaciously to William—she a corpulent, beauty woman with a million ailments. For five years, since his death, she had clung to his name "though all other wisdom of her married life, I should ask it should be a widow just in the time of the year when the assessor comes around or the carpenter comes to mend my roof or the plumber to plumb my leaky pipes."

"The one way I have of keeping William's name alive in the town," she always purred and lifted her handkerchief to her eyes as to wipe it. So I shall be Mrs. William Nordway."

"Until she can become Mrs. Judge John Ransom," Nancy had whispered mischievously to her neighbor, who had grinned just as mischievously back.

Some Difficulty

"Of course, of course," she agreed. "But she seems to me to be having some little difficulties in winning her new title. She has been leaning on his strong arm when business troubles come or loneliness assails her for four years now. With charming grace too, the judge is evading her, I should say."

Now Nancy's eyes snapped. For in the court room she knew Mrs. Nordway, beautiful in her clinging orchid silk, had chosen the best chair in the softest light and was giving her best imitation of a helpless attitude to the members of the board.

Nancy knew that her nose needed powder and would be shiny before she would let either her pen or her tongue run dry. It was over Mrs. Mulberry's famous widow weeds that Nancy, left with her two orphan children, both of whom were supported by generous uncle.

Then in walked Nancy, one of the chief clerks in the county clerk's office, himself her arm extremely.

"Our work for today is finished. Let's go in and hear the fun."

Nancy smoothed her plaid, flannel dress, brushed back her glinting, bobbed curls and dusted a bit of a powder puff over her nose. Oh, Nancy held just as charmingly and persistently to her youth as did Mrs. William Nordway to her widowhood. For even a day, pretended youth, here it was to Nancy's lights, meant a good job and much better pay.

"I'll ask Clerk Henry if we are needed," she looked questioningly at the county clerk.

Perpetual Youth

He smiled back.

"Certainly not, my child," he returned and went back to his conversation with the city comptroller, wondering if there was any truth in the statement he had heard that Nancy was past thirty, and, thinking that if this were true, he would implore her to whisper to him the secret of her perpetual youth.

Over in the court room, Nancy [illegible] the chair [illegible] seemed close to [illegible] just [illegible] time to be [illegible] of her helpless [illegible] were to rent and the [illegible] was a widow with [illegible]

After that [illegible] a few [illegible] of the board's [illegible] of the [illegible] Mrs. William Nordway [illegible] great grief and besought [illegible] while he talked. Her corpulent body shook with emotion cleverly feigned, while he talked. And her soft, flabby hands clasped themselves in front of her large bosom.

Nancy's hard little slender hands gripped [illegible] Nordway had been her playmate back on Orchard [illegible] years, years before. Then [illegible] been a very active little girl. It was only when she had captured [illegible] the late William [illegible] but her charming helpless [illegible] was so marked.

"If only one would go to work like I have to do!" Nancy whispered to the [illegible] slender and her [illegible] look so furry, but sort of cute.

Weary Look.

The judge came back to his chair. On his face was rather a weary look. And elusive too. Like that of a caged animal, according to Nancy's lights. She wondered why he did not break away from the widow if wife! They wouldn't need a [illegible] pay then."

Judge Gasped

"And," the other clerk chimed in, giggling a little, "they might be slender and pretty like Nancy."

A gasp came from the judge's throat now. Nancy thought he was going to reprove her, but he only looked at her as if seeing a new creature.

"Why, my dear, dear girl," he said, "I believe you are right. I just thought of you as capable—" his eyes rested on her "a capable, young matron, with [illegible] and capable nevertheless."

His face his nose hard [illegible] out of the room.

A little later Mrs. William [illegible] was [illegible] quest of him. For [illegible] Nancy [illegible] over the telephone and [illegible] him.

She went up to her room, [illegible] she dusted her nose and [illegible] brushed her glinting [illegible] she looked at herself in the [illegible] there, "a splendid [illegible] to demand love and [illegible] widow, and believe me, [illegible] to keep right on it. [illegible]

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

Scant home is being shipped into the United States every day. America is rapidly drinking Europe dry.

Italy has prohibition but the other countries suffer from it.

ENGLAND is not but the stylish have to come over here to get a drink.

SPAIN the war the slogan was "Hands across the sea." Now it changed to "Shake your thirst across the ocean."

ENGLAND may have the greatest number of battleships, but we have more row boats.

PROHIBITIONISTS have closed our saloons and now it looks as though they'll have to abolish Chicago.

THE only part of a cocktail which comes from this country is the ice.

ENGLAND is insisting on wine that home and we're swallowing her assertion.

SUCH a tremendous amount of alcohol is consumed in England to-day that most of the British people are beginning to holler "God save the King."

EVEN the Prince of Wales had to go home to get on the water wagon.

OUR water wagons over here are filled with gin.

ENGLAND says Uncle Sam ought to take the angles off our currency and replace them with curves now.

KING GOBBLE wanted to know if Yankee throats were lined with leather.

HE thinks we're born with sponges instead of throats.

AN American family goes the pictures on, and begins crowding in every time they hear Europe is starting to build a new brewery.

INSTEAD of running big liners to England, it won't be long before we'll be running hikes.

AMERICA has telephone and telegraph cables to every foreign country and a long hose would help us to keep in liquid touch with Great Britain.

ANECDOTES OF THE FAMOUS

Among the many good stories in the late Lord Willoughby de Broke's memoirs is one that amusingly illustrates the manners of Disraeli's magnificoes. One of these magnificent personages sent for the family solicitor to investigate the finances of his household with a view to economizing.

The latter made suggestions, e.g., that the employment of both an Italian and a French pastry cook was unnecessary. "Hang it all!" was the reply; "A fellow must have a biscuit!"

A good parallel to the story is that of the youngster and, who said: "I always live up to my income, even if I have to borrow money to do it!"

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

THE greatest gift a man can give his wife is a good name.

Another thing a man can do is to be polite to people who are not polite to him.

Sometimes a husband is almost convinced that his wife is perfect, but then she opens her mouth.

Some day teach a man to refrain from insulting an unprotected woman without receiving a severe nervous and a highly charged reply.

A few million homage to marry a man who is willing to work and give his wife the husband, and then proceed ready to become a leader for her.

Most marriages are not failures; they are merely unsatisfactory. Love does not die half so often from a violent stab as from a million little pin pricks, nor from a great disappointment as from a thousand little discomforts.

Apparently, the chief charm of golf is the opportunity it affords a man to get back into the "knee pants" days and call all his boyhood and run out and play hockey from the office.

A woman may search her lover tenderly, as she does her doll—but what man ever cherished a toy—or a new affair—after he had outgrown it?

Love without illness may be as insipid and tasteless as pudding without sauce, but illness without love as an added and nauseating as the sauce without the pudding.

A woman wears her different tears on the day when she discovers that she can LAUGH at her past heartaches and infatuations.

The Legend of Castor and Pollux

By Foxy Grandpa

"CASTOR and Pollux were twins," said Foxy Grandpa, one evening.

"What are the Dardanelles, anyway?" asked Bobby, following my gaze up in the heavens.

"Those are twin stars, Bobby, and I said those two brilliants are called the Gemini, for that very reason.

"Hasn't each one a nickname behind his respective name brand, I mean twin brand?" asked the ever alert Jimmie. One is named Elbert and the other is Randolph. They are fine twinny lads.

"Well, well I guess stars are just like Elbert and Randolph. Because they each have a name."

"Castor and Pollux," I replied.

"Please tell me about them," urged Bobby.

"To begin with," I started, "Jupiter was their father."

"That Jupiter certainly had a large family," commented Bobby.

"Why, Foxy Grandpa, it seems as if he were the father of nearly all the gods."

I laughed and said:

"It was like this. The mother of these twin boys was not a goddess, she was a woman who lived on the earth. And as it often happens with twins, one was like the father and the other like the mother. So you see Castor was partial like his mother and Pollux was immortal, like his father. You know anything or somebody that never dies is called immortal.

"So after many years as it happens to all mortals, Castor died.

"Now this grieved Pollux, his twin brother very much. Too much indeed for he mourned him.

"So Jupiter saw this and felt very sorry for his immortal son. And he let them down and thought what he could do about it.

"Finally he came to this conclusion. Jupiter decided that since the twins were twins he would allow Castor to share the immortality of Pollux.

"What do you mean, Foxy Grandpa?" asked the puzzled Bobby.

"Just this," I continued. "Castor was allowed to live one day and then Pollux lived the next day.

"Then they could never play on the same teams together like Elbert and Randolph would they?" said Bobby.

"No," I replied. "But they had the satisfaction of knowing that they were both alive and enjoying life, even if they could not be together.

"That's right," said Bobby. "I guess that was a good plan."

Bobby's little face wrinkled up and a worried expression crossed he brow.

"Of what are you thinking, Bobby?" I inquired.

"I was just wondering," replied Bobby, "if Castor was the men who invented leather soles."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

All societimes fierce alarms and strifs endear the ways of peace and make calm days the sweeter seem because of cares surcease; as after weeks of storm-tossed sea, with waves and winds that roar new beauty beckons from the green tree-crowned and flower-strewn shore; as Winter hours make roses prized and fair.

THE HELPING HAND

In Need of Coal

Helping Hand Editor:

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Acid Is Relieved by Jad Salts

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescing, and furthermore to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to overcome the acidity, remove gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus prevents a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Never before was it so easy to become part owner of almost any kind of business imaginable.

You feel that department stores make generous profits? Very well: you can now become one of the owners of any one of a dozen of nationally-known department stores. How? One after another these stores are putting their shares on the New York Stock Exchange to be bought and sold.

Already you can buy, through the stock exchange, one share or any number of shares in stocks of the Ginobel Brothers, R. H. Macy & Company, Franklin, Simon & Company, Kresge Department Stores, S. McCrory, May Department Stores, Stern Brothers, Arnold, Constable & Company and the stores comprising the Associated Dry Goods Company, which include Lord & Taylor and James McCreery & Company. Probably next month the stock of Oppenheim, Collins & Company will be listed on the stock exchange.

* * *

Perhaps you are impressed by the amount of business being done by certain chain stores. Nothing easier than to put yourself in line for a share of the profits, for among the companies whose stock is now available is the public are Ginter Company, Jewel Tea, Jones Brothers Tea, Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., S. S. Kresge, Loft, Inc., Park & Tilford, Schulte Retail Stores, United Cigar Stores, Unified Drug Company, Walgreen System and F. W. Woolworth Co.

* * *

Huge fortunes have been made in the tobacco business. Here, also, you can now buy a small or a large interest. Among the tobacco companies figuring in the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange are the American Snuff Company, American Tobacco, Consolidated Cigar, General Cigar, G. W. Helme, Ligget & Myers, P. Lorillard & Company, Reynold Tobacco, Tobacco Products and U. S. Tobacco.

* * *

If the silk business attracts you, you can become a stockholder, for example in Mallinson & Company. If your tastes run to motion pictures, the stock exchange can meet your desires. If you think the shoe business is profitable, nothing easier than to get aboard. There are several coal companies to choose from.

Coca-Cola shares are listed on the stock exchange. So are Yellow Taxi & Model Taxicab. Also, several motion picture concerns, Gold Dust, Julius Kayser & Company, biscuit companies, sugar companies, National Cloak & Suit, National Dairy Products, Onyx and Phoenix Hosiery, Owens Bottle, Postum Cereal, Radio companies galore, several typewriter companies, mail order companies, packing companies, etc., etc.

* * *

The whole system of doing business in the United States is going through an evolution. The country has become so large that the field of operations is no longer, and often can be covered by privately-owned concerns. Even the Rockefeller billions are not going so far in supplying the capital now used by the various Standard Oil companies. Here, surely, Ford has contributed to build up a world wide business without calling upon Wall Street to furnish funds, but in this respect as to others Ford is in a class by himself.

* * *

A householder remarked to me the other day that the public utility operating in his State was doing this, that and the other thing to make what he regarded as anyturns sonable amount of money.

"Why don't you buy some of the stock and get your share of these big profits which you think it is making?" I asked.

"I never thought of that," he replied. "If I buy some of the stock, perhaps I'll feel better when it comes to paying my monthly bills."

* * *

The plain truth is that Wall Street is every week playing more and more important a part in the business life—one might even say the social life—of this country. Wall Street is not a monster maching manipulated and controlled by a few millionaires or multi-millionaires but is part and parcel of our whole existing economic order. The services it performs touch the life of every one of us today as never before. It has become the greatest market place in the world. What Wall Street deals in is not a few pieces of paper which we call stocks and bonds, but in every imaginable class of merchandise, as can be gathered from the multifarious companies already named.

* * *

As a matter of fact, the New York Stock Exchange has now become so tremendously big that no clique of speculators can send it roaring or cause it to tumble headlong. During recent weeks professional operators have repeatedly attempted to bring about a stampede of selling, but the public have kept on buying quietly and consistently, with the result that some of the bears have lost heavily.

* * *

We are a growing country. Wall Street is growing with the country. More and more capital is required in real part in working it possible for the country to grow as it has grown.

NEW ENGLAND'S TOBACCO CROP IS LARGE

By FRANK H MELOON.
Financial Editor

Few people are aware that the tobacco crop in New England is large.

I have been told that the finest wrapping tobacco is grown in the Ashuelot Valley, around Keene, N. H.

Tobacco is grown even right here in Boston, a Harvard professor having raised a handsome crop annually for years near the Bussey Institute at Forest Hills, where thousands the Summer long viewed the broad leaves without knowing it was the native weed of Milady Nicotine.

* * *

"More than 35,000,000 pounds of tobacco are raised annually on 23,480 acres of land along the Connecticut River, extending through Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont," says Judge Levi P. M. Hickey, of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Association.

"The American public seems to connect tobacco cultivation with Cuba, Porto Rico and several of the southern states and does not seem to know that New England produces nine times as much each year and that eighty-five per cent of the New England tobacco crop is grown in the Connecticut River Valley.

The success of the Boston & Maine Railroad in bringing to its lines the big $4,000,000 assembly plant recently leased by Ford Motor Company at East Somerville has made 1924 the most successful year in the form of business building activity by the railroad, writes T. F. Joyce. Results for the year in the sale of property not needed for railroad purposes, the reports on which are now being compiled, will show that the Boston & Maine has not only developed new sources of business for itself, but at the same time has stimulated the development of industries in many New England cities and towns that it serves. The process by which these land sales are made available for improvements to the railroad is typified by the assembly plant, to be built on a thirty-acre lot, will furnish employment for 2,000 men in the new factory and will produce 160 cars per day. This was the largest of 147 transactions of the year for the Boston & Maine during the year. Of these, 119 others have been completed, and the aggregate sales of $467,394, as represented by the purchase price of the real estate. The properties disposed of are widely scattered over the system of the railroad, and are in every case those that were established or were expanded on ground purchased from the railroad an aggregate of 1,000 acres of land thought was obtained during the past year. In the case of the Ford plant alone, probably 1,000 more men will be added and will result annually when operations are under way. The funds of new industries for the railroad will in similar instances form a sizeable aggregate.

This business-building activity of the railroad organization is accounted not only with getting big industries located on its lines, but the helpful hand is extended also to the smaller towns that it serves. Efforts are made alike to find a new purchaser for an old paper mill, for instance, to locate an Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company warehouse or a branch of a department store that is finds new tenants for a house and barn, or to bring employment and prosperity to the people of towns and villages that have been abandoned, as it has done in the projected use by the National Biscuit Company of the old Industrial Alcohol plant in East Cambridge.

STEEL IS SOLD OFF, BUT SOON RALLIES

U. S. Steel was sold off a point at the start of today's New York stock market, but soon recovered. The early drop was laid to speculative disappointment over the failure of Steel directors either to place the stock on a $7 annual basis or declare more than the extra which has now come to be considered customary.

The Steel directors met at noon and noon was firm. At the outset Woolworth was off 8¾, F. W. Woolworth Co. reports for the year ended December 31, 1924, net income of $20,609,397 after charges equal $7.94 a share on 2,600,000 shares of $25 par outstanding, as compared with $20,698,150 or $7.96 a share on the basis of $25 par stock for 1923.

In addition to dividend, $10,000,000 from profit and loss surplus to reduce good will, making a total write off on this account of $40,000,000 in three years. As of December 31, 1924, good will stood at $10,000,000 in the balance sheet.

General Electric sold down 1¾.

May wheat crossed the $2 mark. $2.00 was generally expected to be before the new crop is harvested by at least two experienced judges of the grain market. Cotton was firm and active. Cotton hold firmly to this belief. Mr. Barnes has probably handled more wheat than any other individual. And Mr. Barnes has been right on grain prices to the tune of several million dollars. Mr. Barnes thinks likewise what future prices will be these two gentlemen come near to constituting a "country-full."

In Boston Stock Exchange trading American Woolen preferred made further recovery, rising 2 points from its opening, while the common gained over a point. Announcement was made yesterday that a canvas of directors showed the preferred dividend not to be in danger at this time.

St. Mary's Land was off a point from the opening.

Houghton Mine was moderately active and higher.

N. J. STANDARD IS SOLD TO ITS WORKERS AT $35

Employees of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey will have the privilege of buying the common stock of the company at $35 a share, it was announced by the employes was $13 a share. The stock sold at 45 on the New York Stock Exchange during the first part of the year to date was off¼. Low for 1924 was 33 and in 1923 it sold as low as 30¾.

JENCKES SPINNING CO. BONDS ARE CALLED

Manville Jenckes Co., successor to Jenckes Spinning Co., has elected to redeem the latter's 15-year 6 per cent. first mortgage gold debentures at 107½ on the next interest payment date, March 1, 1925. The issue, originally $1,000,000, has been reduced to $3,846,000 by operation of sinking fund.

20 LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN 7 NEW ENGLAND STATES

Almost surrounded by the open sea, Cape Ann is an ideal resort for the Summer tourist. Within a mile or two may be found almost every type of natural scenery.

The name of Gloucester has been associated with the catching, curing, packing and distribution of fish ever since 1623. The great fishing industry is the base of Cape Ann's prosperity.

Gloucester Minute Men Off for Florida to Proclaim the Attractions of Cape Ann

WHEN THE AVERAGE resident of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey or Illinois thinks of Gloucester he probably thinks of the great fishing industry; and Gloucester is willing that he should.

Since its early settlement, in 1623, the name of Gloucester has been associated with the catching, curing, packing and distribution of fish. The fisheries have been followed from this port for three hundred years, practically without interruption.

The history of the industry teems with stories of valor and self-sacrifice. Braving the perils of the sea, at the mercy of storms and heavy fogs, treacherous shoals and drifting boats, the lives of more than 8,000 fishermen out of Gloucester have been sacrificed in their perilous calling.

Certain of her position as one of the first and greatest fishing ports in all the world, however, Gloucester wants everybody to know of some of her other claims to eminence; wants the rest of the United States to realize the manifold charms of old Cape Ann as a Vacation Land, wants more Summer visitors and more Summer business.

In line with this ambition there is being staged in Gloucester this afternoon the first studied and organized effort ever made by the "resort" men of New England to call the attention of possible patrons in remote places to the varied attractions of Cape Ann in the Summertime.

In the motor-car which is pictured on this page, its top covered by a replica of Thatcher's Island and its famous Twin Lights, William A. Publicover of Rockaway Hotel and George Crosby of Merrill Hall, representing the Cape Ann Hotel Men's Association, are leaving their home city this afternoon for an eight-weeks tour of Florida.

Publicover and Crosby are missionaries. Looking for business, they are going where business is. They are going down into Florida, to tell the thousands of visitors assembled there exactly where they can find, in late Spring, throughout the Summer and in the early Fall, attractions similar to those with which the Southland is so lavish during the brief season of Winter.

Gloucester is making a Big Day of it, conscious that she is setting the pace for Cape Cod, Narragansett Bay, the Maine Coast, the Berkshires, the White Mountains and Lake Champlain.

There is a street parade on the program with brass bands and everything, a representative part of the city's population of 22,000 will turn out to cheer, and the "missionaries" will be sent away from the City Hall with a ringing speech of endorsement by His Honor the Mayor, Henry Holbrook Parsons.

Before they head off for the South, through Worcester, Springfield and New York, Mr. Publicover and Mr. Crosby will stop at the State House, where Governor Fuller will say a word of encouragement and give them a letter to the Honorable John W. Martin, Governor of Florida. Tomorrow they hope to have a minute with Mayor Hylan in New York, and on Saturday they expect to be presented to President Coolidge at the White House.

While their car will speak for itself, more especially at night when the twin lights are on, the hotel men are carrying with them a vast quantity of literature in the form of maps and booklets, each has prepared an illustrated talk to be given in hotel halls on the way, and they both will be disappointed if they are not asked by at least two hundred inquiring reporters, in forty or fifty different cities, to halt and give an account of themselves.

And will all this be of help to Cape Ann?

Unquestionably.

Have you forgotten the story of the old showman of an earlier generation who pleaded with the newspapermen to say "something" about his exhibition?

"I don't care so much WHAT you say, boys," he explained frankly, "but for time's sake say SOMETHING."

Publicover and Crosby, representing not only the Cape Ann Hotel Men's Association, but the Gloucester Chamber of Commerce, are blazing a trail. Next year, again, and the year after, and the year after that, Cape Ann will send other men —or, perhaps, a delegation of pretty girls—over the same route.

Promotion and publicity are effective ONLY if you keep "everlastingly at it," and Cape Ann has enlisted for the duration of the campaign.

What is it going to cost, this sort of publicity?

No one knows.

The Cape Ann Hotel Men's Association, being an integral part of the larger organization, brought the idea to the attention of the directors of the Gloucester Chamber of Commerce, won THEIR instant approval, and before long captured the entire chamber.

Towards the expense of the expedition the chamber appropriated an initial $500, with a guarantee of further subscriptions up to double that amount. As the tourists are to stop at the best hotels, the appropriation will not come near to paying their bills; but they will not ask for another penny.

"There are only forty-two hotels in our association," Publicover told his fellow-members of the chamber, "and while some of us cater to persons of liberal means, the majority welcome visitors with modest purses, and we regard such support as this, on the part of the Chamber of Commerce, as not only enough but truly handsome. Whatever we shall require above this guarantee we shall be glad to pay out of our own pockets."

There were some loud protests, but George Crosby stoutly and promptly declared that the landlord of the Rockaway had stated HIS position, too, and they would not have it otherwise.

That's the sort of chaps they are, down Cape Ann way.

In a city of 22,000 people, they have a Chamber of Commerce with 470 members, every one of whom appears to BELIEVE in the Chamber and be not merely willing but eager to do the work of a worth while member. The Chamber book, "Gloucester, Massachusetts—On Old Cape Ann," has gone into more than 2,000 schoolrooms in Canada, Cuba, Mexico and every State in the Union.

But the man or the men or the Chamber of Commerce with GLOUCESTER to write about or talk about is exceedingly fortunate in having a subject. In the dim past there was Thorwald the Norseman, probably, and Champlain, certainly. After Champlain's departure came Captain John Smith and Myles Standish.

Here, on Cape Ann, in 1623, was the first PERMANENT settlement of the territory of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

There were men from Gloucester in the expedition against Louisburg. There were other sons of Gloucester with Wolfe before Quebec.

In the Revolutionary War, as in the Civil War, the War with Spain and the World War, this fishing community gave freely to the cause of Freedom in blood and treasure.

The men who are about to journey South with an invitation to Cape Ann will not, however, talk much of Gloucester's past. THEY are of the opinion, one infers, that Massachusetts and New England have been overemphasizing the past at the expense of the present.

Publicover and Crosby sing New England TODAY.

THEIR story is of the 26 beaches of Cape Ann, surf, bay and inland river.

Of yachts, canoes and motorboats; 9- and 18-hole golf courses; private and public tennis courts; such motoring over scenic highways and boulevards as gives the visitor a new drive for each day of the week; of rides along woodland bridle paths, of shore or deep sea fishing.

They will be ready to agree that Juan Ponce de Leon WAS a great and wise man, even though he foolishly sought the Fountain of Youth eleven hundred miles south of Bass Rocks, but they will modestly suggest that a gentleman by the name of Roger Conant had HIS good points, too.

They have enticing names down South, in Pineapple County and Indian River, the Everglades, the Keys, Belleair, and the rivers Chattahoochee, Withlacoochee and Ocklokonee, but the Publicover and Crosby be stumped by THEM. Not while they can remember Five Pound Reef, Ten Pound Rock, Fresh Water Cove, Rafe's Chasm, Norman's Woe, the "Wreck of the Hesperus," and Brier Neck!

Cape Ann, however, is NOT competing with St. Augustine, nor yet with Palm Beach or Miami. The two sections are merely engaged in the same good cause, noble work, that of directing Americans to the right place for rest and recreation. To those who do not KNOW the joys of Winter sports, Florida MAY be the place to go when the snow is "up around the front-room windows." In the Summer season, New England acknowledges FEW EQUALS, recognizes NO SUPERIORS.

Will anyone in New England QUARREL with the men of Gloucester if THEY place Cape Ann above every other region in these parts?

Is it not, on the contrary, up to the rest of New England to fall into step behind Cape Ann and march out upon the national highway to sell our wares?

Cannot we all learn something from CALIFORNIA?

When the men of the Grand Army of the Republic came to Boston last Summer, for their annual encampment, a member of the editorial staff of this newspaper received a letter sent to him from the Pacific Coast by his good mother, a member of the Woman's Relief Corps.

Acting upon a suggestion in that letter, the gentleman went to one of the Boston hotels to find the W. R. C. delegation from a little city in Southern California.

"I found," he reported, upon returning to the office, "that California has taken possession of the ENTIRE HOUSE.

"All over the lobby there are placards calling attention to the fact that California Headquarters are in Rooms 537-538.

"I stepped from the elevator at the fifth floor to find the hallway covered with similar cards, each marked by a pointing finger or an arrow.

"Before I had time to announce the reason for my call, someone handed me this small box of oranges, and I had scarcely turned around, to acknowledge the gift, before these California BOOKLETS were placed in my hands. Can you beat it?"

Perhaps not, but do you remember the motto of the City of Fall River, the subject of one of these talks some weeks ago?

"We'll try!"

THAT'S the motto of plucky, never-say-die Fall River, and it might well be the motto of New Englanders.

We may not beat California or the South in the "resort" field—though goodness knows we have the goods—because we have shoes to sell up here, and cottons and woolens and machinery, and ten hundred other things—but we CAN try, just as Cape Ann is trying.

Join the Boost New England Committee, which holds no formal meetings, has no dues, asks nothing to your obligations.

All you have to do is believe in New England —and boost!

The first is easy, "comes natural," the second you become proficient in with practice.

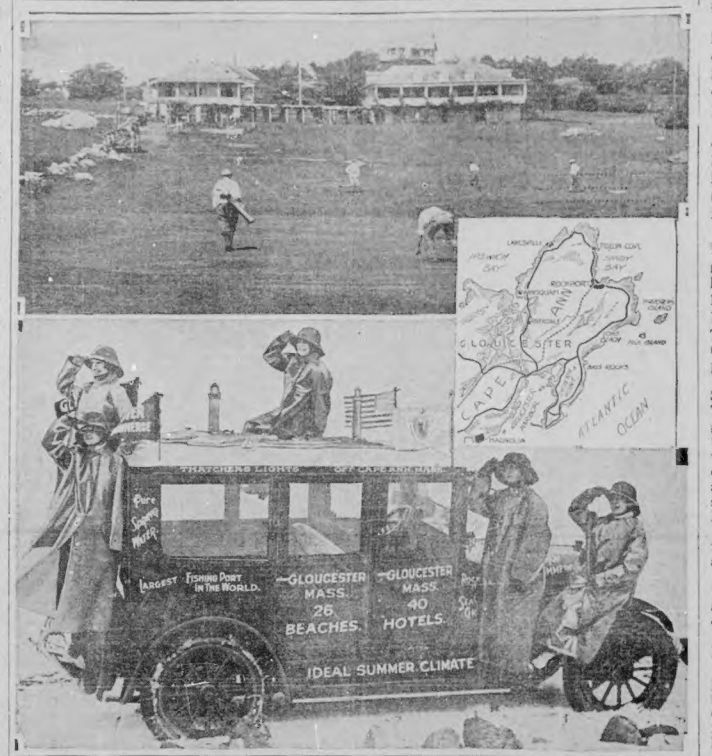
Try it today, and again tomorrow.

Remember the motto:

"WE'LL TRY!"

Dr. Crane's article will be found on Page 9. Helping Hand on Page 5.

LIGHTING MIAMI FROM "THATCHER'S"



A unique feature of the "booster" car in which two members of the Gloucester Chamber of Commerce are leaving this afternoon on an eight weeks' tour of Florida is a replica of Thatcher's Island and its famous Twin Lights, two and one-half miles off Sandy Beach. The model, built atop the sedan, is an almost exact duplicate of Thatcher's, with its lighthouses and other buildings. Several small boats may be seen at anchor nearby. Two 20-candlepower lights will illuminate the lamps at night. Above, the golf links near Bass Rocks, Gloucester.

'Take Heed?' Why Should We?

Self-Determination Bosh

Neither Rats Nor Humans

Science to the Rescue

Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Hearst, 1925, by Star Co.

THE PROPOSED constitutional amendment that would make Congress to regulate child labor is evidently debated. That is an interesting test of United States civilization, and answers the red-headed 100-per-cent Americans who deny that power is the main power here.

Very interesting is the objection to any interference with child labor for fear it might interfere with the usefulness of children in religious and other institutions. The founder of Christianity would be interested to find his professional followers fighting an amendment that would save children from shameful exploitation in mills, mines and factories. The warning against hurting one of these little ones because "their angels do always behold the face of my father, which is in Heaven," must not be taken too seriously where cash profits are concerned. After all, an idealist preaching in Galilee 1,900 years ago could hardly be expected to understand business needs in 1925.

"DANGER OF SETTING all Croatia in flames and smashing the Jugo-Slavian kingdom," says the newspaper headline. Many of the artificially created "self-determining" governments, established after the war, will be smashed, or absorbed by stronger powers before long.

Self-determination is a pleasing expression, but does not mean much. The story told and the strength shown, through centuries, not any burst of sentiment following war, determine a people's fate. Those that could not govern themselves before the war do not become suddenly capable, merely because the allies beat Germany. Foolish is the power that sets up a faction or an individual in business for himself unless nation or individual has proved his fitness. Merely wishing for self government does not constitute capacity for self government.

Ask Egypt or the Philippines.

MRS. ROSELLA PYNE has still to learn that real experience is the only teacher. To frighten away rats she kept in her bureau a loaded pistol, with a piece of cheese just in front of the muzzle. Said she:

"They'll go to the cheese, see that my pistol is loaded, then run away from my apartment, for fear I'll shoot them."

Foolish hope.

Not even human beings are so intelligent as that. A little while ago they looked into the barrel of a gun labeled war. It went off and killed twenty millions of them. But even that won't make them keep away from war. They need to hang murderers in public and other criminals gathered to see. But that did not stop murders.

WHEN there is real sickness you need a real remedy. At Nome, in Alaska, there is an epidemic of diphtheria and none of the anti-toxin that cures diphtheria.

The epidemic will proceed and many will die until the anti-toxin can be provided. Then the danger will pass. It takes real science to combat a real disease.

Those that deny the value and power of scientific vaccination belong in the lower kindergarten grades. Such a statement annoys many well-meaning souls, but that can't be helped. Others of the same type are annoyed if you say that Shakespeare wrote his own plays, and a few still resent it if you insist that the earth is round.

CONGRESS, having decided to turn over the people's property at Muscle Shoals, to a private concern, shows that it cares little for public opinion. But it does not show complete lack of intelligence. It objects to having Senator Norris on the commission chosen to adjust matters between House and Senate. That's intelligent. A man like Norris, honest, able, hedging-proof and not afraid to call a Senator a grafter when he happens to be a grafter, can be a great nui-
